

Roman Catholicism’s Disconnect From the Scriptures Is Increasingly Clear

The Pope has just completed a huge synod held for nearly 500 leaders at the Vatican. It ran for the entire month of October and resulted in a lot of confusion for the sheep.

Discussion of the agenda leading up to the meeting exposed two camps in the church. As usual, one was “progressive,” pushing to adapt to current trends, and the other was traditionalists who were stubbornly declaring, “But we have always done it this way.”

From all indications, this pope comes down on the progressive side.

Researcher Finds ‘Catastrophic Decline’ in Christians’ Worldview

When Christian researcher George Barna discovered that only 6% of the American population had a truly Biblical worldview, it was disturbing enough. Now he has gone one step further and evaluated America’s Christians.

His new book is entitled, Raising Spiritual Champions: Nurturing Your Child’s Heart, Mind and Soul. He claims to have discovered millions of what could be considered uncommitted Christians. He lays the blame at their doorstep for this “catastrophic decline in biblical worldview in America.”

Barna measured the worldview of children to gauge the effectiveness of today’s parenting. His previous research had indicated that a person’s worldview would be mostly in place by the age of 13. So, he focused on teens and preteens to get an accurate view of the coming generation.

He found that only 36% of 13 and 14-year-olds agreed that God exists and is the all-knowing, all-powerful Creator of the universe. Evidence of an emerging

MURFREESBORO GETS IT RIGHT

The city of Murfreesboro, Tennessee has decided that the city government “has a sacred trust of surpassing importance...in the protection of children by safeguarding them from behavior, material, and events that primarily appeal to prurient interest,” especially in a public place.

To fulfill that trust they adopted a Community Standards Decency Ordinance this last summer. The ordinance referenced a city code section that had been in place since 1949 containing highly detailed public sexual behavior that was prohibited.

Liberal websites immediately began screaming: “a city in Tennessee banned public homosexuality.” This reaction was very revealing because the prohibited behaviors were the exact perversions of God’s plan for sexuality that homosexuals push on the public.

This kind of pushback is exactly what decent people need to do instead of capitulating to the homosexual steamroller. Hopefully other cities and counties will contact Murfreesboro to learn their approach.

IT’S NOT ONLY ABOUT SCHOOL LIBRARIES

One alert parent in a small suburb in Texas discovered how her school district was sneaking homosexual groomers in through the back door.

When Tracy Shannon reviewed the 20-page agenda for a recent board meeting in her Humble, Texas, school district, she found a lot more than she was looking for. Far down the list of items was a routine approval of an outside expert who would be paid to train the school’s counselors.

Shannon researched that individual, Dr. Megan Mooney, and found that she was widely known in Texas for pushing the transgender agenda. Besides consulting in various local school districts, she had testified in the Texas Senate against legislation outlawing childhood transgender mutilation.

Digging further, Shannon found a sewer of perversity in Mooney’s website. There were pages of places where children could learn more about gender bending, and even purchase chest binders and silicon male sex organs that girls could put in their panties to simulate a masculine bulge.

Shannon brought her findings to the school board meeting and succeeded in getting Mooney’s approval voted down. It was curious that two of the board members declined to vote. Shannon received assistance from an international organization dedicated to supporting local people as they stand against the homosexual and transgender steam rollers. You can get more information by visiting their website at www.MassResistance.org.

PERSECUTIONS OF CHRISTIANS INCREASING IN EUROPE

Arson, vandalism, and threats of violence have increased by 44% between 2021 and 2022. The 749 cases recorded in 2022 included 38 cases of physical assault and three Christians murdered. One rapidly growing trend was arson and another was acts by radicalized individuals based on their ideological, political, or religious viewpoint.

For several decades we have watched Roman Catholicism and spiritually dead Protestant denominations train up new generations with a basically godless

He gives a nod to the conservatives in stating that the church still sees same-sex relationships as sinful and would not recognize same sex marriage. But he plays the no-judgment card, instead of stating the biblical point of view, and starts talking acceptance and inclusivity.

He seemed OK with discussions that included recognition of same sex marriage, transgenderism, married priests and more women in leadership contrary to stated Vatican teachings.

It is obvious from his statements that he has accepted the lie of sexual orientation. This places people outside the responsibility for their behavior because they were just "made that way."

God's word does not allow this excuse. It says that sexual behavior is under the control of individuals who are responsible to exercise it only in the commitment of marriage between a man and a woman.

The website Stream.org details several occurrences when the pope talked or wrote to the conservative, more closely Biblical position, and then failed to back, or even defrocked those leaders for following it.

On abortion, Pope Francis compared it to "hiring a hitman." But he does nothing to discipline priests who offer communion to politicians who vote for abortion. He also honored European parliamentarian, Emma Bonino, as among Italy's great leaders. But she has a history of performing abortions and supported legalization of it in Italy.

Another papal advisor, Columbia Professor Jeffrey Sachs, wrote a book recommending abortion to control population for the benefit of the "environment." He also wrote the United Nation's Sustainable Development Goals, part of the UN campaign for global government.

On globalism, Pope Francis is active in promoting this agenda of the anti-Christ. The UN has a comprehensive plan to fix the world's problems called Agenda 2030. It includes 17 Sustainable Development Goals, including elimination of poverty, hunger, and disease, saving the planet from global warming, and gender equality.

It is a perfect blueprint for the one-world government predicted in Scripture. But it does not take into consideration worldview in preteens was only 1%.

Most parents agreed that it was their responsibility to build a robust worldview into their youngsters. But very few—only 2%—actually could articulate a truly biblical worldview themselves.

“A majority of the youngest teens (61%) either believe Jesus Christ sinned while He was on earth or hold open the possibility that He did,” Barna wrote. “Not even half (45%) believe that God created the universe. And an overwhelming majority believe that there are no absolute, objective truths.”

Barna emphasized the importance of the fact that 13 was a key age that parents should be considering. Their maximum effort and attention to bring their children along to a solid worldview should be focused from about 18 months to 13.

Barna said one of the traps that parents fall into is the temptation to outsource this effort. They look for others who they trust such as schoolteachers, children’s church leaders, sports coaches, or relatives. Since most of these also lack the ability to articulate a good worldview, this leads to a false confidence on the part of the parents.

When the child gets to university and his weak worldview comes under attack, it is too late in most cases. Other research has found that a very small percentage of people come to Christ after they reach adulthood. That is even worse today with the other overpowering worldviews to which our children are subjected.

The book concludes by listing seven cornerstones necessary for a solid biblical worldview. They range from “belief that there is one supreme being revealed by the Bible,” to understanding that success on earth only comes with consistent obedience to God.

Millions of the parents that Barna talks about have lived long enough to see their children enter the working world and watch them crumble in their biblical worldview. In the book of Daniel, chapter 12, he was told to seal up a book until the end of time. He was told that many would “run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased.”

Today we see that proliferation of knowledge and it has been both good and bad. Millions have come into the Kingdom of God because of the easy access to the knowledge of the gospel. On the other hand, billions have been deceived by the galloping spread of Satan’s lies.

This book is a huge wake-up call to Christian parents, grandparents, brothers and sisters, aunts and uncles. It appears that we have lost at least one and maybe two generations. Reclaiming them will take everything we’ve got. But if we do not do it, we will lose the next generation, also.

Many parents have written that a set of Chick tracts or comics have been a significant aid in shaping their children’s worldview.

People say, “Why do you use gospel tracts? Gospel tracts don’t work.”

To those who won’t use tracts, we should say:

“Jesus said to go and teach and preach the gospel (Matthew 28:19; Mark 16:15).

“But you didn’t do that. Instead, you used lifestyle evangelism for a generation. Look what’s happened. We’re in a pagan world, because you never actually told people the gospel, because you didn’t want to lose your friends.

“That’s because you made friends with the world. And the Bible says friendship with the world is being an enemy of God (James 4:4).

“And gospel tracts do work. Chick Publications has received thousands of testimonies of people saved from seeds planted with gospel tracts. So you can go on not evangelizing, and we’ll keep on passing Chick tracts, because they get read, and they work.”

Prisoner Discovered That Somebody Really Does Love Him

Mission Possible is a prison-focused ministry that has used Chick tracts for decades. Director Jo Anna Woody says this testimony shows the power of gospel seed that are sown early, to produce later fruit in someone's life:

Greetings in the mighty, life-changing name of Jesus Christ, my Savior, my Deliverer.

Jo Anna, I am sending you a very shortened version of my testimony that you may send on in the hopes that this same Jesus who set me free, changed my heart, may do for others what He has done for me.

My younger brother and I were abandoned by our mother when I was 9 and he was 6. We were placed in a temporary shelter home. I remember crying with my brother, we wanted our mom.

In this home I found a little booklet. The front said SOMEBODY LOVES ME. It had no words, just pictures of an orphaned boy. I understood what the pictures were saying. In the end the boy died. He went to be with the Lord. I cried out to God that very moment.

Through a long and hard road I found myself in the Idaho State Correctional Institution, facing over 100 years of charges. I was guilty of every charge.

Inmates and volunteers began trying to talk to me about Jesus, but I was so angry. Yet God kept after me. Finally, I gave in to God calling me. I accepted Jesus as Lord and Savior on May 17th, 1984. As I prayed, I felt all the anger and hatred leave my body.

I heard deep in my soul, "TOMMY, I LOVE YOU." This hit me so hard I buckled and fell to the ground crying harder than I ever cried. SOMEBODY LOVED ME.

I spent a few more years in that prison. But my heart was free. JESUS LOVED ME. I read all the Crusader Comics books. That made me hunger for the Bible.

I walked free on June 28, 1988 and what the Bible says about the depravity of man. In story after story the scriptures illustrate what happens when unsaved men are allowed to rule. The temptation for power and domination is irresistible.

When popes or anyone else ignores the Bible in their efforts to solve the world's problems, the Bible says that lawlessness shall increase until chaos reigns. The Vatican has not changed its goals. This Pope is just more open about their agenda than his predecessors. We can now more clearly see how the Vatican's agenda dovetails with the United Nations plan to deliver the Antichrist and the false prophet predicted in scripture.

Most of the churches who claim to be Bible-believing have bought the lie that Roman Catholicism is just another denomination with a somewhat different worship style. They choose to look the other way when Popes parade a wafer god in the streets and bow to a statue of a goddess that they call the Virgin Mary.

They claim the heritage of "Protestant" but have forgotten what they should be protesting. Besides holding forth the simple gospel, Chick Publications has also been called to expose Rome's unbiblical deception.

Please visit the chick.com website featuring several books that will help you to guide any friends or relatives out of this counterfeit church.

never went back to prison. Been through some ups and downs, yet Jesus has been my Rock. Thank you for a simple booklet, SOMEBODY LOVES ME —Tommy H.

As sin increases its clutches on our culture, prisons are overflowing and soul winners are beginning to see an additional need in the refugee camps. They are asking Mission Possible for Bibles and tracts to minister to these who are essentially in prison, also.

In fact, Tommy, in the above testimony, contacted Mission Possible recently because he found a refugee camp near his home in Washington state and asked if he could have Bibles and tracts to distribute there. They were able to supply him with 150 Bibles for children, 150 for adults, 4,000 tracts and 150 comic books for him.

Over the years many Chick customers have invested extra funds with Mission Possible. Jo Anna writes: “I want to thank you all for your continued generosity and confidence as you are so faithful to support these many requests for Bibles and tracts. There are not enough thank yous for me to let you know how grateful I am for your love for lost souls in prisons and these other areas that we are helping get the gospel through the tracts and comic books.”

Jo Anna reports that in September of this year they sent out 668 Bibles, 50,000 tracts, 400 comic books, as well as 6 commentaries and 12 Bible dictionaries to add to the prison libraries.

Chick Publications maintains a standing account for Mission Possible where people can make donations to purchase tracts. Or, you can contact Jo Anna Woody at: 352-464-4448. The mailing address is: Mission Possible, PO Box 2728, Dunedin, FL 34697.

worldview. In addition, Europe has maintained a tolerant multiculturalism toward Islamic refugees who are actually taught violence against Christians and other infidels.

This brew has destroyed any claim that Europe once had as the cradle of Christianity. Vibrant African, Latin American, and Asian churches now target Europe as a mission field. It is increasingly doubtful that sleepy American churches will be able to avoid a similar fate.

EUTHANASIA IS A SLIPPERY SLOPE

The Dutch have a long history of accomplishments. But now they are becoming famous as the pioneers of assisted suicide. What started out in 2001 with the excuse that it was just an act of mercy for the terminally ill or those in unbearable pain, is now broadly considered for people who simply feel that their life is over.

Since the original door was opened, the slippery slope has included the chronically ill, people with disabilities, babies born with serious medical problems, even to the mentally ill. Of the 8,700 people who were killed in 2022, 288 were suffering from dementia.

One news outlet there reported that 80% of 200,000 people surveyed were not against providing assisted death for “elderly people who feel they’ve reached the end of their useful lives.”

Europe has been primarily Christian by name only for several generations. When a nation gets away from a vibrant faith in Christ, life loses its meaning and Satan has an open door to promote death, his ultimate objective.

Halloween Success Stories

When the Great Commission is discussed today, the emphasis is primarily on making disciples. But in Mark 16:15, Jesus talks about the other part of that Commission: preaching.

Jesus was not talking primarily about pulpitzing. Preaching includes every possible way that we can get the gospel in front of people so that they are challenged to repent. Anytime we can do that there is occasion for rejoicing.

Below are some who are rejoicing over the opportunity that Halloween provided this and every year.

I love giving tracts away! Just think. In a few hours how much witnessing can be done with these small books. At our fall festival at church we gave out about 400+ tracts. I love it when they see they got a "comic book" and say, "Look what I got!" We don't get many kiddos in our neighborhood, 42 this year. But since my neighbor had us over for chili in her garage, I was able to make "big people" treats and hand out to the adults.

EVERYONE SAID "THANK YOU!"

I looked forward to Halloween this year. What a great chance to be a real missionary. I made little clear bags of tracts and candy. No one refused. I ran out last year because of financial limitations. So this year I made twice as many. I ran out around 8:30! I could not believe the amount of people that came. And, despite the nature of the holiday, I heard nothing but 'thank you, sir' respect, friendly, wonderful time. Thank you for the wonderful tracts to give out.

THEY WERE ALL GONE!

We ordered 300 tracts, placed them in bags with candy, and set them at the end of our driveway. At the end of the night, they were all gone! We're praying that some received Christ. Thank you, Chick Tracts! — Natalie S., SC

CHILDREN AND PARENTS EXCITED TO RECEIVE THEM.

My wife and I passed out around 500 Chick Gospel tracts at our Church's annual Trunk or Treat this year. We made little "goody bags" with a clear, fall-themed bag we bought from the Dollar Tree, a few pieces of candy and a Gospel tract inside. Children and their parents took them and were excited to receive them! When we ran out of "goody bags" to hand out we would drop a tract along with a few pieces of candy into each child's candy sack.

My wife and I realized afterwards that if each child plus one parent read the tract, this would result in 1000 "gospel encounters." And the beautiful thing about tracts is they can be read over and over again, sometimes being put away in a drawer etc. until the moment is ripe for someone to get serious with God.

I am reminded of "Mrs. Kathy" at the Church we attended when I was growing up. She would joyfully give out little "goody bags" like we passed out filled with candy to all of the children in the Church at Christmas, Easter, Valentine's Day. She was someone filled with God's love and she expressed that love by giving and loving His children. We are thinking of passing on this tradition in her honor, adding Chick Gospel tracts to go with the time of year, of course! — Nathan W.

TRACTS BETTER THAN CANDY?

My husband and I have been passing out tracts for several years and every year I notice that children as well as young adults enjoy receiving them. We saw a young woman walking reading it and little children were more interested in the tract than they were in the candy. — Naomi N., Texas finally acquitted of hate crime charges. A very determined pro-homosexual prosecutor attempted through two trials to land her in jail.

When the Finnish Lutheran Church began to promote pride month, Räsänen cited a few verses from the Bible on a radio show and a tweet. Further investigation found that she had quoted biblical verses about homosexual behavior in a pamphlet in 2004 with the title “Male And Female He Created Them.”

Her case has garnered international attention because she has held multiple positions in the government, wife of a Lutheran minister, and mother of five children. It is hopeful that her acquittal will cause over-eager prosecutors to think twice before spending taxpayer’s money on such attacks in her country and beyond. In a case like this she was actually fighting for freedom for all of us.

United Kingdom

As you may have read, the United Kingdom (England, Ireland, Scotland) is now openly hostile to the Gospel. A recent survey showed that nearly a quarter of all UK young people said they were willing to see the Bible banned if they felt it contained “hate speech,” unless the offending parts were “edited out.” Even today, street preachers are sometimes arrested because the message of the cross is an “offense.” Cross Mission, a group sent out from South Korea, is bringing the Gospel back to this home of the English Bible. Another 30,000 Chick tracts were recently shipped to their brave evangelists for street work.

Working with Grace Missionary Society, you helped provide 10,000

After two generations of Bulgarians under communism were forbidden to worship the Lord, the Orthodox church has become something of a state religion. Brothers and Sisters in Christ:

We have a tragedy and an opportunity.

The tragedy was illustrated in George Barna's study of the beliefs of the next generation: only 36% of 13–14-year-olds believe God is the Creator and only 2% of parents could describe a Biblical worldview!

God told us what to do when He told Israel what to do with His words: Deuteronomy 6:7 “And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up.”

In my book, the New King James – The Bridge Bible, there is the story of Sam Moore and his son, Joe. When faced with the failure to train his son, Sam produced a Bible that changed the meanings of King James words to match modern corrupt versions, instead of teaching Joe how to read God's preserved words in English, the KJV.

It is becoming obvious that most Christian parents today are disobeying God's command to teach His words to their children.

In the Bible, every time Israel ignored Deuteronomy 6:7, their children turned from God and soon came under God's judgment. How can we avoid the same fate?

What is the solution?

Get the one Bible that absolutely is the words of God, in English the King James Bible, and teach it day and night to your family, as God said! Encourage the children to ask questions, and even if the parents don't yet know the answers, let them pray and read the Bible and discover the answers together! That is what Deborah and I did in our family.

We also had pretty much every Chick tract available at the time, and we all read them and discussed what was in them, as well as the Crusader comics. Sometimes when I challenged what they said, further research proved they were right, and I was wrong. And the kids got a good example of a parent for whom the Bible is the final authority.

This had one extra benefit: knowing what was in the tracts helped us better figure which tracts should be given to which people!

Family time in prayer, the King James Bible and Chick tracts. It made a huge difference in our family. It will in yours, as well.
