

Is ‘Evangelical’ Catholicism Really Evangelical?

A new book being reviewed by Christianity Today magazine is entitled, “Evangelical Catholicism: Deep Reform in the 21st-Century Church,” by George Weigel. The book is reviewed by Brantly Millegan who claims to have been raised in an “evangelical, Protestant home,” and “joined the Catholic Church during his senior year at Wheaton College.”

According to Millegan, “Weigel argues the Catholic Church, since the 19th century, has

Dear Battle Cry,

Recently, on my way to the Dearborn, Michigan, Arab-American Festival, where the Lord allowed us to hand out 4,000 copies of Unforgiven, I was waiting for a friend driving from Wisconsin who was going to pick me up in his truck at Chicago’s Midway airport and take me to the festival.

He was running late so I started handing out some tracts to folks waiting, cab drivers, etc. I saw that this bus had pulled up. I walked over to it and the been reorienting herself ever so slowly from 'Counter-Reformation Catholicism' toward a confident, outward-looking, gospel-proclaiming, mission driven faith. Which is to say, toward something distinctly evangelical."

How sad that there is so much wrong with this picture. The central problem is the claim that Roman Catholicism is "gospel proclaiming. "The Apostle Paul marvels that the Galatians have been "so soon removed...unto another gospel," (1:6).

Anyone who carefully compares the pope's "gospel" with Paul's gospel can only conclude that it is "another gospel;" one of a ritualistic working towards salvation and trust in the "church" instead of faith in Jesus, alone.

It is true that the Catholic Church has been "reorienting herself" since the 19th century and accelerated by the Vatican II Council. However, this is not reform by rejecting unbiblical tradition, but actually, as Weigel points out in his book, "a rededication to the teachings of the Church and a reinvigoration of authentic Catholic practice." It appears from the content of this book and the context of its presentation, that American "evangelicals" have bought the lie that the leopard has changed its spots.

How is it possible that they have forgotten the history of the reformation where tens of millions died in the "counter reformation" as the pope defended his devilish teachings of a wafer god, Virgin Mary goddess, free passes out of purgatory, the pope as usurper of Christ's authority on earth through "apostolic succession," priests forbidden to marry, and salvation by works that could only be obtained through the blessing of the "church?" And this so-called "reorientation" did not involve changes to any of these pagan, unbiblical heresies. So, what did they change?

Tactics.

The purpose of the counter reformation, (better known as the Inquisition), was to stamp out the true word of God, the Bible. During the dark ages, few could read, Rome kept the Bible in Latin. Ignorance and superstition reigned. When the Reformation leaders used the new Gutenberg printing press to get the Bible to the common man, Rome lost control.

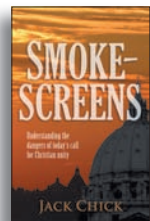

Since this prostitute "church" always takes the long view, they settled on new tactics. Instead of the poison of the stake and sword, they would use the honey of ecumenism. And instead of burning bibles, they would set out to pollute them. Chick Publications has covered extensively the success of the polluted Alexandrian, Westcott and Hort-based "modern" bibles. (See Daniels, Did the Catholic Church Give Us the Bible?, Look What's Missing, and Babylon Religion.)

This book by Weigel, promoted by Christianity Today, and lauded by a "Protestant evangelical turned Catholic," is supreme testimony to the success of ecumenism.

The reviewer notes that "Ecumenically minded evangelicals should also be encouraged by the fact that the Second Vatican Council permanently committed the Catholic Church to the work of reestablishing full unity among all Christians." In 1983, Jack

Most Christians only see the “public” face of Mormonism, due to their persuasive PR campaigns: clean-faced young people, parents committed to family values, and spectacular temples.

But what do Mormons really believe?

In this revealing book you'll learn of their shocking doctrines, like:

- It's good to lie... to protect the church.
- There are millions of gods.
- God was once a man, and became a god.
- We can become gods, too.
- Jesus and Lucifer were spirit brothers.
- God is a polygamist.
- The Jesus of the Bible was a polygamist.
- Sins are forgiven through good works.
- Salvation by faith in Jesus is 'utter nonsense.'
- Black people were cursed by God.

Cindy Benson was only eleven years old when her 53-year-old father announced that a 15-year-old girl must become his second wife. Once you know what Mormons really believe, you will be better equipped to witness to them.

Up in Arms Over — Arm Evolution

By Thomas Heinze

Evolutionists looked at ape's arms and compared them to people's arms. They noticed that the apes' arms were similar to people's arms but, in proportion to the body, were longer and stronger.

But because they believed the standard evolutionary explanation that people evolved from ape-like ancestors, they listed people at the very top of the evolutionary tree — above apes, in spite of the fact that apes' arms were longer and stronger than people's arms! The theory of evolution rules! Don't let the evidence disarm you!

What's more, people are easily offended, and would not stand for any inference that apes might be more evolved than we are. Apes, on the other hand, won't complain no matter how we insult them!

But what if evolution is a false theory and neither apes nor people came about by evolution? Look at DNA! It is the part of every cell that contains the plans for the whole body. If DNA did not exist, or the plan for arms had not been written into it, neither people nor apes would have arms. Plans for arms are very complex and don't just pop up out of nowhere. Where did DNA come from, and who wrote the plans that it contains?

This is easy to answer if you believe God created people, apes, and DNA. It's hard or impossible to answer for atheists and many other evolutionists. They try to solve nearly every problem about where things came from with "mutations," random changes to DNA.

But since God made the plans in DNA so that they work, random changes cause more damage than progress. Mutations are random changes, a bit like driving your car into a tree. Your car will be changed, but hitting a lot of trees will never invent the first fender or bumper, let alone the first complete automobile or arm. We agree that random mutations can cause changes to DNA plans, but they can't invent either DNA, or the plans it contains. They might make arms longer, shorter, or unusable, but random changes can't invent an arm nor connect it to your shoulder so you can use it. Atheists may hate this statement but can't refute it: Arms were not formed by damage to DNA.

So where did arms come from? Arms give strong evidence of having been planned by our intelligent Creator. They could not have been slapped together by random movements of atoms, molecules, cells or whatever.

Evolutionists can't explain the origin of DNA! I have asked them. The plans that God wrote into DNA work. Random changes to those plans cause more damage than progress. Mutations are an irrational, failed explanation for the origin of arms!

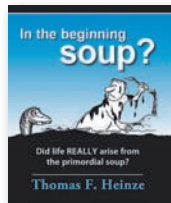

I have a lot of email friends who are atheists and evolutionists.

Hey friends! Before you come down too hard on me for insisting that God created arms, try to find a better explanation! Adding natural selection to random mutations will not, by some evolutionary magic, make an irrational explanation intelligent! Evolution claims that natural selection chose the best random changes to the plan in DNA. But if there were no DNA, or no plan for arms in DNA, random changes would never make either DNA or arms. There is no way that selecting the best random changes to no plan at all could make arms! Sorry to throw cold water on your faith in random mutations. Forewarned is forearmed!

DOJ: 'Home Schooling Not a Right in America'

Part of the current push for big government includes more government control over your kids. For several decades in America, the family has been under attack. Much of it was subtle, sneaked into the government (public) schools and universities, and through sinful suggestiveness in the "entertainment" industry. Now, it is reaching critical mass and many parents are reeling.

One defense that Christian parents have long used against the influences of a pagan culture is home schooling their children. This allowed them to channel their formative years toward a heart for God and delayed the lying influences of the culture until they were mature enough to deal with them.

The American freedom to home school your children is almost unique in the Western World but is under assault continually. The Home School Legal Defense Association (HSLDA) is increasingly having to run defense for parents being threatened by intrusive government officials.

A look at where the battle is likely to go involves a home schooling family who fled from Germany to the U.S. to keep the state from removing their children and forcing them into the government school system. The Romeike family was initially granted asylum in the U.S. as political refugees. After several years, the U.S. government is trying to deport them back to Germany to face huge fines, jail, and loss of custody of the children.

When HSLDA went to their defense, it uncovered an alarming argument that the office of the U.S. Attorney General, Eric Holder, was using. When stripped of its legalese, it came down to a question of an individual's fundamental rights as opposed to the rights of the state. And the Department of Justice (DOJ) argued that the Romeike's case was not religious persecution and asylum in the U.S. should be denied.

The Supreme Court of Germany declared that the purpose of the German ban on homeschooling was to "counteract the development of religious and philosophically motivated parallel societies." This essentially declares that the state's religion and philosophy is the only one that is permitted. Although the state is supposedly "secular," without religion, it has become anti-religion by pushing the philosophy of humanism. In this environment, anyone, primarily a Bible believer, is the enemy, who doesn't believe in evolution, social engineering such as abortion and Chick warned in his book, Smokescreens: Understanding the Dangers of Today's Call for Christian Unity, how Rome would only agree to "unity" if all the Protestant churches came back and accepted her false gospel. Smokescreens details how Protestant ministers like Billy Graham and Rex Humbard were the pope's pied pipers coaxing Bible believers back to Rome. Christianity Today's promotion of this deceitful book shamefully testifies to the success of Rome's new tactics.

Are We The ‘Barney Generation?’

By David W. Daniels

This morning I was thinking about how we’ve got to be spreading the gospel. Maybe we have become the “Barney” generation.

You remember the Barney show, the big purple dinosaur: “I love you, you love me.” I was an elementary school teacher when I heard about it and saw little glimpses. Then I read a report that the series was created to get 2-year-olds to stop moving. I had to try it out, because I was an elementary school teacher.

I could not try it out on the school students, so I tried it out on my own kids! I lined them up on the couch, turned on the TV and watched the purple dinosaur and all the little hyperactive kids on the show who couldn’t stop moving. I soon realized that I was sitting there with my mouth open, staring at the antics on the TV.

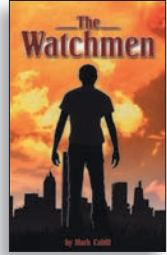

Suddenly I snapped out of it remembering that I had a purpose for doing this. I looked down at the couch at the different ages of kids. It didn’t matter what age they were. They were all sitting there, completely still, with their mouths hanging open, just as I had been. It was really true! It stopped people from moving.

Then I thought: “You know what? We’re in danger of becoming the ‘Barney’ generation.” We sit there in church, and we listen to our preferred type of music. And we’re confident we’re saved, we’re Christians and we’re happy with our nice little lives. We just soak it all in. We act like our only purpose is just to enjoy God forever! But we forget that God put us here for a purpose.

Two-year-olds are meant to go out and explore their world, because God created them that way. He made them to interact. That’s how they learn and grow and move through the different stages of life. In the same way, we as Christians also have to go through our stages. Healthy Christians want to spread the gospel, because there really is a judgment at the end. And people will be judged by whether they have faith in the shed blood of the Lord Jesus; and if not they go to the lake of fire. We don’t want them to go there. We want them to go to heaven. So we have to do something. We need to get moving.

#1278 - $14.99

That’s why I have a shirt with a pocket, and that’s why I have my Chick tracts. Even when I can’t talk to someone, I’ve got my tracts right there ready!

As you know, I am a Bible-toting, tract-passing, King James Bible-loving fanatic. That’s who I am and what I do. But passing out tracts is something anybody can do. We can be ready to give an answer, or at least hand out a tract to somebody we don’t have time to talk to. Even language isn’t a barrier, when we have a Chick tract in their language.

1 Corinthians 3 says that wood, hay and stubble all burn up in the fire at the judgment seat of Christ. But, if we have gold, silver and precious stones —the things that we do for Jesus Christ, we will receive a reward. The parable of the pounds in Luke 19 also says there’s reward for being faithful with what God gives us to do.

That old Devil can’t get us to go to hell if we’re saved. But he does everything he can to make us ineffective. God wants us to spread the gospel. Let’s be faithful with what He’s given us and spread the gospel whatever way we can, and not become the “Barney” generation.

Some Need to be Shocked into the Kingdom

This testimony by a Chick customer proves that "God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." (Galatians 6:7)

I would like to share with you what happened when I gave one of your Chick books to a guy I worked with. I worked in South Africa with a 45-year-old man. One day all the employees were together having lunch. This man was telling us that he had three farms and that he was going to retire at the end of that year. Altogether we were ten people having lunch that day. I had witnessed to all of them over a long period of time. This day at the lunch table, after this man told us of all his future plans, I handed him the Chick tract, This Was Your Life.

He sat there reading the booklet and when he was finished he threw it on the table cursing. He said that this was not the place for church stuff and that he goes to church every week and this was not the place for this kind of reading material. He was very upset and cursed me in front of all the other guys. Then I asked him if he could guarantee that he would see the sun come up the following morning since he had told us that he was going to retire at the end of that year. I told him that Jesus loved him and that He died on the cross for his sins and he told me that he was a good man and that was all that God expected of him.

Well, that Thursday afternoon he left work early for some reason and we all carried on with our work. The next morning as I walked into our factory I sensed that something was wrong. I asked the first guy I came in contact with what was wrong? This is what happened. That Thursday night the man that I gave the Chick booklet to went to bed with his wife as usual. Friday morning his wife woke up and bumped her husband in the ribs to wake up and go to work. He was stone cold dead in bed. I shouted, "OH GOD, what has happened —did I kill this man?" Was I

CHICK MAIL BAG

I recently was transferred from the detective to patrol section...so now my car has a cage and at times, I have a captive audience. I was thinking of an effective way to share the gospel appropriately in this new context. There is usually about thirty minutes of time while I am completing my reports and finishing paperwork where my "customer" is just sitting...usually complaining or just silent while awaiting a trip to the detention facility.

After searching for presentations of the gospel online, I remembered 2 of your tracts had been transformed into videos, and plan on playing these for the "customer" (I have a laptop mounted in the vehicle) so I can "redeem the time" because the days are evil, and that may be the only opportunity for someone to hear the gospel! I haven't had any customers since I found your videos, but have them queued up and pray this can be an opportunity for officers around the world to give the gospel to a needy people and "set the captive free" spiritually even though physically captive as a consequence of their actions. Thank you for making it available and for your steadfastness to the Gospel and truth over all these years since I was a boy.

Chick Tracts Reach Catholics in Goa, India

Dear Brother,

I trust my email will find you in great health. We are all doing so well spiritually and physically.

Why Is Mary Crying? tract is attracting people's attention. We have had several inquiry phone calls and already 15 have visited our church and 5 are saved now by the grace of God after reading Why Is Mary Crying?

We are all in full swing in soul winning these days. Yes, we have had much opposition due to these tracts but God has blessed this tract to get souls saved. We are all excited to see what the Lord is doing in our midst and in our Goa.

This Sunday, I had 15 Roman Catholics arguing with me in the street as I was witnessing to them. Many got upset at me and my team but eight of them went home convicted, their countenance showed they were pricked in their hearts!

We have already passed out 7000 Why Is Mary Crying? tracts and now we have 3000 left with us.

We want to thank you for all prayers, encouragements and supports we have received from Chick Publication. Can't thank you enough! We are all praying for you all. I thought these photos will tell the rest of the story!

The Lord Continue to bless you and yours.

Fellow Servant

Lordson

The Chick Missions Fund is able to provide more and more tracts to missionaries as you provide the funds. Here is an unlikely but obviously fruitful project. India is not known for its Roman Catholic population, yet Missionary Lordson Roch used Why is Mary Crying? very effectively there.

His email and pictures on this page explain the fruit of his efforts. See opposite page for more information about the Chick Missions Fund.

driver opened the door. I held up one of the tracts I had. The driver looked at the tract and tears welled up in her eyes. I asked what was wrong and she said, "Years ago I used to order Chick tracts by the hundreds, but then I got away from the Lord and stopped doing it. Recently the Lord has been dealing with me and today I met you." I gave her 10 different Chick tracts and she drove away crying.

Recently, I was at my bank and as always, I take English and Spanish tracts with me. I had given out all the English tracts except one and I had a few Spanish tracts left. I felt impressed to give my last English tract to the bank greeter, but I didn't want to offend her by giving her a tract that said Stinky on it. So I walked up to her and said, "Ma'am, do you have any children at home?"

She replied, "Yes, I have a daughter,"

I handed her the tract and said, "Would you please give this to her?"

She started laughing and I asked, "What's so funny?"

She said, "My parents call her by that name!"

God is so creative!

Many Christians want to provide Chick tracts to missionaries.

We can help!

We maintain an account called: The Chick Mission Fund

Although we are not legally structured as a non-profit, and therefore cannot give tax-deductible receipts, we definitely know how to get literature into missionaries' hands. They often write to us asking if anyone can help them get Chick tracts.

THANK YOU SO MUCH FOR COMING TO ISRAEL WITH YOUR FRIENDS! After reading this brochure I was given I MET YESHUA AS MY MESSIAH!!! If it hadn't of been for YOU I would have been lost to an eternal fate. I AM GRATEFUL!!! I'm on my death bed now but have no fear of dying. Shalom and I'll see you later!!!

I'll be the fellow who'll look a lot younger but I'll be giving you a big hug!

100% of the funds you send to the Chick Mission Fund are used to ship literature to missionaries.

We receive requests frequently from missionaries who need your help. Just during recent months, shipments have been provided for:

- ... 200,000 tracts to Zimbabwe for use among school children there
- ... Philippines – tracts in Cebuano for a veteran evangelist we have worked with for years
- ... 10,000 tracts for an Armenian community
- ... 80,000 in Hindi and Malayalam for a large children's project in India
- ... 10,000 in Chin language for Myanmar (Burma)
- ... Thousands of tracts for ministry in Republic of Georgia (next to Russia)
- ... 50,000 tracts for China

The Steepest Generation:1963-2013

By Dr. Gerald Sutek Th.D., Ph.D. (history)

Every roller coaster has its ups and downs. You really can't go down unless you make that slow, clicking, tension-heightening, thrill-building climb to another expected crest. But what if you built a roller coaster that had one final slide that picked up speed but never rounded the bottom of the valley...it just kept going down?

The riders are all experiencing the same concern, but the common, hopeless, reality grips the minds, while the hearts pacify themselves with the thrill of the last crest just experienced. The imminent disaster is obvious, but few prepare, and no one has access to the brake. This is my description of The Steepest Generation.

The year was 1963. The junior band played "Pomp and Circumstance," as we half-stepped to the stage, shook hands with the principal and accepted our high school diplomas. While the commencement speaker said something about the past and the future, our thoughts were on the graduation party that night...then the beach tomorrow, the summer ahead and college in the fall. Thus we crested this dizzy height and began what none of us could possibly predict to be the final descent of the steepest generation.

The climb to that crest was a most pleasurable 18 years of peace, prosperity, respectability and moral decency. Our week began in church, and our school day began with prayer and Bible. The distant hope of the next crest sustained us in our patriotic, theistic and simple daily habits, while our hearts could only toy with and imagine what sin was really about. We played in a wading pool of iniquity without a notion of the looming ocean of filth, filled with twisted and drowning victims.

In our wading pool, if a couple slipped in over their heads they had to get married. A divorce was the hushed gossip of a disgraced family. An abortion only had to do with the saving of the mother...adoption, yes...abortion, huh? A homosexual was confined to the lowest imaginable category of human involvement in perversion. Sexed in school? Are you kidding? We would have been embarrassed to attend class and where would you ever get a teacher? Condoms handed out in the classroom? Hee hee...don't tell the principal. The only porn available was at the Roxy theater on the dark side of town. For those who could prove or feign legal age, it cost a dollar to see a flick with black bars hiding what we all knew ought to be hid.

Mass murder was confined to a fabricated story to sell more Police Gazette magazines. Later the same year, when the president of our country was shot and killed, it turned the world on its side in incredulous shock.

Some today may mock this innocent bubble we lived in 50 years ago, but does any sane person prefer the aftermath of the bursting of this bubble?

Where is the bottom of this valley...where? We are all eagerly awaiting the next exciting climb, but this alumnus of fifty years does not predict another climb. "Righteousness exalteth a nation but sin is a reproach to any people," Proverbs 14:34. This "Christian" nation is a past tense. The only escape from the final crash at the end of this scary descent is in the following verse: "...repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ," Acts 20:21.

The same year I graduated from high school, I took this emergency escape off the doomed roller coaster and have been on an ascent ever since that leads straight into eternal life. The greatest thing in the world is to know for certain that when you die you're going to heaven. There is no valid argument against the above statement.

Many today are searching for the key to that emergency exit that Dr. Sutek found but don't know where to look. Every Chick gospel tract contains a copy of that key. It only takes a couple seconds to hand someone a tract so they can get off that doomed roller coaster. Order a Chick Tract Assortment pack today and start your own rescue operation.

ethanasia, and Marxist politics. HSLDA discovered that the U.S. government now basically agrees with this approach in its attempt to return the Romeike family back to their German nightmare. This is further proof that America is rapidly losing the Biblically based freedoms established by the sacrifice of our founding fathers and the blood of millions of "our finest" fighting men since then.*

They depended on the soul winners to be diligent in spreading the gospel of salvation and righteousness. The fact that godless humanism, unbelief, selfishness and outright paganism has come to dominate our culture does not speak well of our efforts to preserve our freedom. The liberty that they provided has become freedom to sin and God is lifting His hand of blessing.

Our only hope is for Bible believers to get back to work until repentance and revival sweeps our land. Most revivals in history have grown out of a spiritual awakening fostered by a saturation with gospel tracts. Today, we have many more ways of spreading the gospel, but paper tracts are still a most convenient form. A no-nonsense gospel tract will wait as long as it takes, sometimes years, for a hungry heart to come along.

Soul winners, we have a lot of work to do!

A MESSAGE FROM JACK CHICK...

Dear ones in Christ,

Today it seems we all know at least one person who is sick because of cancer. It is an ordeal not only for the patient, but also for loving friends and family.

But Cathy is a young patient who has her priorities straight. She is not worried for herself. She knows her loving Saviour will take care of her, no matter what happens. Her priorities are much higher. She is concerned for the souls of her friends, like we should be.

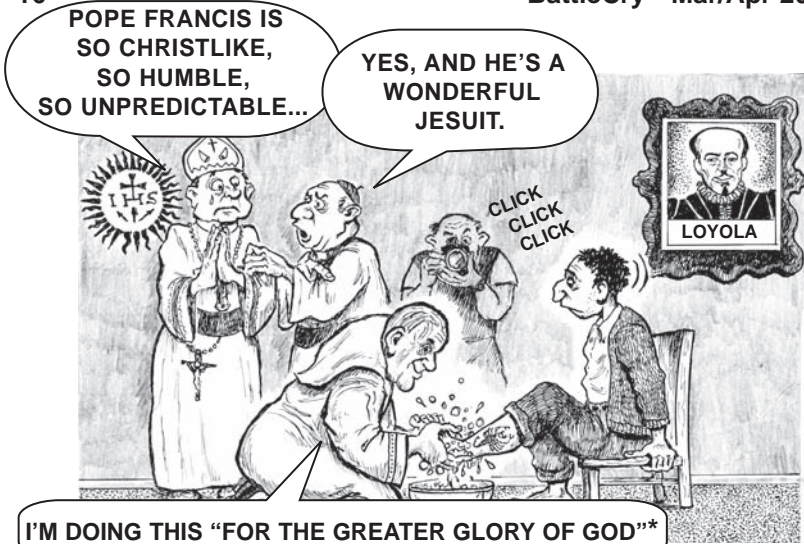

Many people who have read this tract have burst out in tears. It is sensitive, it is loving, but more importantly, it presents the gospel in a simple way that a child can understand. You can read this to your children. What better way to introduce others to Christ, than through the faith of a child!

I believe with all my heart that this will be a classic. We pray it will be used by God to win many souls to Him.

God bless you every time you hand out tracts or read them to another person.

Yours for the lost,
