‘Humble’ New Pope Making Firm Push for One-World Religion

The new pope Francis has only been in office for about a year, but has laid much groundwork for the prophesied one-world religion.

He has the Anglican Archbishop eating out of his hand, made nice with the Orthodox Metropolitan, assured Muslims that Allah and Jehovah are one and the same, pledged a continued romance with the Jews, and persuaded some evangelical Protestants to agree that “Luther’s protest is over!”

In a recent mutual admi-

Bitterness Finally Solved —at Age 85

Mike Cahill works for an airline and uses Chick tracts to witness in many places here and in other countries. However, he relates this recent story that happened in his home church:

In our church was a secretary working for FedEx Ground who was a faithful witness. Rose kept a wicker basket of tracts on her desk and was very vocal about the gospel. However, in her late 50s, she had a stroke and was confined to a care facility for four months while recuperating.

In the facility was an 85-year-old woman from Poland named Mary. Rose befriended her and asked Mike to talk to her. So, he and his wife set up a Saturday morning visit to the care facility and

‘Unity’ —Lubricated by Emotion

Regardless of where you stand on the Charismatic Movement, whether it was initially a move of God, or a false revival plotted by Jesuits, or worse, it presently is being used as a main tool to draw evangelicals into the ecumenical river. Current evidence includes a recent pastor’s conference held by Kenneth Copeland.

Featured in the conference was Episcopal Bishop Tony Palmer, who has worked extensively in Copeland’s international ministries. He is also a long-time personal friend of Archbishop Jorge Mario Bergoglio, now Pope Francis I. Palmer mentioned to the pope that he was attending Copeland’s conference and the pope suggested that they record a video message from Francis to the Copeland pastors.

Palmer used his cell phone to film an impromptu greeting that Palmer played for the conference. The pope starts out with the scripture to love God and love your neighbor and right away redefines all “neighbors” as “brother and sister,” including Palmer as “my bishop brother.” He acknowledges that he and his listeners are “separated” because of “misunderstandings throughout history.” He claims to be “...yearning that this separation comes to an end and gives us communion. ...And we have diverse traditions. But we have to encounter one another as brothers.”

The pope is known for his humble warmth and he turns it on at the end of his message: “And let us pray to the Lord that

He unites us all. Come on, we are brothers. Let’s give each other a spiritual hug and let God complete the work that He has begun. And this is a miracle; the miracle of unity has begun.... He will complete this miracle of unity. I ask you to bless me, and I bless you. From brother to brother, I embrace you. Thank you.”

One of the criticisms of the Charismatic Movement is that they have abandoned truth for emotion. Looking back over their 50 years of history, there is no doubt that emotion has clouded their vision and the pope is continuing to capitalize on this.

The millions who died at the hands of the popes were only the result of “misunderstandings” based on “diverse traditions.” Now, all we need do is give “spiritual hugs” all around and put on the yoke.

Never mind that our “yoke fellow” has a different gospel, a wafer Jesus and adores a Virgin Mary goddess. Once the yoke is firmly in place, we will discover that we are strapped to the Beast of Revelation 13.

At the end of the pope’s message, Copeland invited Palmer to the stage where he used his cell phone to video a response. He led the pastors in enthusiastic prayer for the pope, using Ephesians 4:13 to stress their pledge for “unity.”

In Palmer’s speech to the conference, he declared: “The Catholic and Charismatic Renewal is the hope of the Church.” The crowd cheered, as he asked, “Brothers and sisters, Luther’s protest is over. Is yours?”

Of course, this was an early theme of the Charismatic Renewal when Paul Crouch was hosting Roman priests on the Trinity Broadcasting Network. At one point he stated that he was discontinuing use of the word “Protestant” since he no longer saw the need to protest anything about Roman Catholicism.

Since few in the church now believe that Rome is the harlot of Revelation 17 & 18, the door is wide open to this decep-

Doubt the Bible? Check Out God's Promise to Israel

Israel. What to do with Israel?? Never in the history of the world has such a postage stamp of real estate had so many rich and powerful scratching their heads. How could this ancient tribe of a few million people disrupt the tranquility of the whole planet?

Atheists, humanists, evolutionists, environmentalists, and others who are depending on world government to save the earth, say, Away with this stubborn little clan. What's Jerusalem got to do with anything? Why don't they just all go somewhere in Argentina to do their thing and leave us in peace?

Others, who claim belief in some kind of a god, say, Give it up! God is through with you because you rejected the Messiah. Go away so we can transform your angry, judgmental God into a warm, fuzzy deity that everyone can worship.

So, what is the key to all this confusion? A book. It's called the Bible. Ignore the Bible, and nothing about Israel makes sense. Examine the biblical history of Israel's beginnings and the immaculate fulfillment of its prophecies and it all snaps into focus.

Author John P. McCernan, in his latest book, As America Has Done To Israel, outlines Israel's unique history of survival in contrast to all other ancient tribes who have long lost their identity. He sees this history, combined with current events, as proof, both of the divine inspiration of the Bible and the existence of the biblical God.

McCernan details how, in contrast to most of the nations in history, America mostly provided a safe haven for the Jews. Except for a period before World War II, Jews were welcome to come and enjoy all the freedoms of other Americans. But he points out that God's promise to Abraham in Genesis 12:3 is a two-sided coin: "I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee."

On the one hand, no other nation in history, except Israel under Solomon, has enjoyed such pervasive prosperity like America did when she welcomed the Jews. In contrast, when America offended the Jews, God's jealousy of His people brought quick and destructive chastisement. McCernan shows that, over and over, punishment came within hours after America's leaders failed to bless the nation of Israel or the Jewish people.

He lists dozens of stories of this

No Place for 'Fundamentalists' in Pope's 'Brave New World'

So, as the prophesied one-world religion (and government) emerges, who are the bad guys opposing this wonderful "unity?" We see a hint in the pope's comment about Islam's problem: "Faced with disconcerting episodes of violent fundamentalism, our respect for true followers of Islam should lead us to avoid hateful generalizations, for authentic Islam and the proper reading of the Qur'an are opposed to every form of violence."

Here, the pope is echoing the sentiment of the western political world that it is just some fringe extremists that are to blame for Islam's meanness. And the operative word here is "fundamentalism." How interesting that the evangelical world is increasingly frowning at Christian "fundamentalists." In the pope's

Missionaries Use Saturation Blitzes to ‘Seed’ a City

How do you reach a city of 2 million+ with the gospel? After several years of groundwork in Juarez, Mexico, Missionary Tim Urling is on a roll. His strategy: massive literature saturation, followed by evening open air meetings and solid local churches for the converts. Twice a year, Urling invites interested Christians from the states to come south of the border for half a week of intense outreach. The local believers and churches in Juarez team with the Americans to carry out these exciting campaigns.

Armed with a truck load of Chick tracts, teams invade the city center handing out as many as 10,000 tracts an hour in some places. Busy intersections are a favorite location where waiting drivers brought along a pizza. In a private room they met and Mike thought that Mary might be Jewish but asked about her story.

She had been in Poland when the Soviets invaded and hauled her, with a quarter-million other people, off to prison in Siberia. As a young woman, she was horribly abused and emotionally scarred for life. Later, she was returned to a work camp in Germany and ended up in the US for 60 years after the war ended. It turned out that Mary was an active Roman Catholic.

Mike had prayed, before going, for guidance on which tract to take. Thinking that the lady might be Jewish, he looked for a copy of Love the Jewish People but did not feel that it was right. “I normally take This Was Your Life and always take Flight 144. As I looked over my assortment, the tract Sorry stood out,” Mike recalls.

Bitterness laced Mary’s story not only over the abuse in the war prison, but the fact that her son was in jail for driving under the influence, and a daughter was married to a homosexual. Catholicism had failed to bring her peace even though, at one point, when in Poland, she met and spoke to Cardinal Karol Wojtyła, who later became Pope John Paul II.

She parroted the standard Roman Catholic teaching that “the Bible is too hard to understand, so you have to rely on the ‘church’ for salvation.”

The little group talked for about an hour, planting seed but felt that it was not time to push. Mary thanked them for the pizza and the visit.

Mike gave the copy of Sorry to Mary and they left. Since the tract dealt with someone in prison, it was obvious why the Spirit had prompted Mike to select it, since Mary’s son was currently incarcerated.

Later, an excited call came from Rose: Mary had read the tract —twice, and prayed the prayer in the back to accept Christ and commit her life to Jesus. Rose said Mary was treasuring the tract for the hope that the gospel had given her, that she had not found as a Roman Catholic.

Rose realized that, without her stroke and recovery in that care facility, Mary might have been eternally lost. Sometimes our comfort is less important than a lost soul who is open to the gospel.

Fundamentalists...

view, only fundamentalist Muslims are bad. “Authentic Islam” is really nice if you properly read the Qur’an. Of course, Christian “fundamentalists” also fail to properly read the Bible, according to the pope’s interpretation of it. But, never fear, the modern bibles are slowly coming around to the Pope’s interpretation.

So, who are these “fundamentalists?” It all comes back to a book. For Muslims, it’s the Qur’an. For Christians, it is the Bible. By definition, a fundamentalist adheres strictly to the “fundamentals,” relying on a literal interpretation of their book. In Islam, when it says all infidels must either be converted, enslaved or executed, the fundamentalist mounts a jihad attack.

In fact, it is difficult to find any place on earth where the pope’s “authentic Islam” is practiced. Violence is pervasive in any nation where Islam dominates.

A Bible fundamentalists refuses to genuflect when his Book says not to bow to idols. And he insists on using a book that literally translates what God originally said. This makes the fundamentalists, both Muslim and Christian, the bad guys spoiling the pope’s “unity” dream.

The fundamentalists are being given another label: ideological Christians.

In a recent homily, Pope Francis railed against “ideological Christians who have become so rigid that they have lost their faith.” One must understand how Catholicism has twisted terms. To “lose the faith,” is to abandon trust in the pope, not in Jesus.

Ideology is defined by Webster as “a set of ideas and beliefs.” Thus, everyone has an ideology. If someone declares an ideology to be bad, then it must just be one that he disagrees with.

So it really comes down to anyone who believes in a literal interpretation of the Bible. They are the only ones who are likely to stand up against the pope’s drive for unity. Why is Luther’s protest over? If the Bible hasn’t changed since Luther, and if the basic pagan Roman Catholic teachings of the perpetual re-sacrificing of Jesus as a wafer god, and the advocacy of the Virgin Mary goddess haven’t changed, why has the drive for unity been so successful?

Two major factors appear: 1) The Vatican II public relations campaign to position Catholicism as just another church denomination, and 2) moving the Bible text toward more Catholic-friendly versions and ultimately one that all religions could accept.

Chick has many publications that document Rome’s new smiley face masking her unchanging paganism. Daniels’ new book, Why They Changed the Bible, traces how she set out to change the Bible to agree with her pagan “ideologies.” The boldness of this pope shows how close Rome is to the goal of “unity” at any cost.

Satan sees that his time is short and he is ramping up attacks on true believers worldwide. Our freedom to get the true gospel out is rapidly draining away. We are fast approaching the time when “they shall deceive the very elect,” (Matt. 24:24). Beware that you don’t give up the “fundamentals.”

ration conference, Anglican Archbishop Justin Welby gushed: "I pray that the nearness of our two inaugurations may serve the reconciliation of the world and the Church." Both men were installed about the same time.

For centuries England stood firm on God's preserved words in English, the King James Bible, and successfully fought off the Vatican attack dogs. During that time, British missionaries spread the true gospel deep into the heart of pagan lands. Her navy policed the seas and "the sun never set on the British empire." How far she has fallen to this groveling at the feet of the enemy, all for the sake of "unity."

As for the Eastern and Russian Orthodox, little differs between Rome and Constantinople. Both rely on unbiblical traditions that basically "make the commandments of God of none effect." The main argument is over whether the pope has the right to be boss. "Unity" for them will require resolving two conflicting power trips.

As for Muslims, popes have long held that they both worship the same god. And there is little argument here since neither one of their gods resembles the God of the Bible. But his pledge for "unity" has so blinded Pope Francis that, speaking of Muslims, he declared: "We must never forget that they 'profess to hold the faith of Abraham, and together with us they adore the one, merciful God, who will judge humanity on the last day.'"

Apparently his interpretation of the Qur'an is as loose as his reading of the Bible. To be pope, he has to ignore large blocks of the Bible. And to make such a ludicrous interpretation of the and passengers are handed a “paper missionary.” Urling’s strategy really got rolling last November when a handful of Americans came to Juarez and helped members of local churches distribute more than 70,000 tracts in just two days. In open air meetings held on two different nights, those who made professions of faith were directed to local churches for follow up.

Urling says that the main object of that blitz was to sow seed for future harvest. “We have observed a marked decrease in violence in the entire city in the weeks following these campaigns. Our soul-winning efforts become more effective as we can ask ‘Did you get one of these yet?’ (A Chick tract). Either way, it is a great door opener.”

Urling is training local believers as pastors and looking to neighboring communities where they can plant the next churches.

One Mexican pastor commented, “This time the Americans helped us! It wasn’t us helping the Americans.”

Urling sees this as the vision taking hold in the hearts of the local Christians so they will continue using these methods to sow the seed in their city! Urling also has an evangelistic website printed on the back of each tract. On the website they can read more Chick tracts as well as watch evangelistic videos and even enroll in Bible study courses. Urling believes that we should use all means possible to get the gospel message out.

Missionaries around the world are reporting back to Chick Publications the effectiveness of this strategy. Solid fellowships are being established as the result of first saturating the communities with gospel “seed.”

For 2014, Urling plans two blitzes, in

One World Bible for One World Religion

The recently discovered involvement of the Jesuits in the modern Bible versions gives new meaning to the fact that the new pope is a Jesuit. For centuries, the Society of Jesus, aka, the Jesuit Order, has shunned such a high profile position. Their strategy of bringing the world under the power of the pope has been to work behind the scenes, becoming confessors of the powerful and educators of the next generation of world leaders.

The Jesuit general is also known as the “black pope.” It has long been assumed that he was close to the power center of the Vatican universe. One Jesuit told author David W. Daniels that the pope was basically a Jesuit puppet.

Daniels’ latest book, Why They Changed the Bible, describes how Jesuits have been influencing Bible societies since their founding, and Bible translation projects for over 150 years. Their success in shifting the Bible text to accommodate Roman Catholic dogma allows them a new boldness in pushing the “unity” agenda. Almost all modern versions now are based on Roman Catholic approved manuscripts.

A generation ago, Roman Catholics were discouraged from reading the Bible. When the King James Version dominated, Rome’s teachings on the Eucharist and the Virgin Mary goddess stood in stark contrast to scripture. Readers of the KJV could clearly see the false teaching. Now, the trend is clear toward a Bible whose “fuzzy” wording leaves room for Roman dogma.

Apparently, the Vatican no longer fears for their people to read the Bible. In the past, excommunication, inquisition or death was pronounced upon anyone who dared read the Bible for himself, without the “church” to interpret it for him. Now they have Catholic Bible studies.

They have cleverly convinced Protestants that it is because “mother church” has changed. But if you scratch the surface you find that the basic pagan teachings of wafer god, Virgin Mary goddess, salvation by works, confession to a priest, indulgences, and purgatory have not changed.

So, what did change? Daniels proves that it is the Bible that has changed. The Jesuit calendar is measured in 100+-year plans. In the early 1800s, a decision was made to abandon violence in fighting the Reformation. Instead of trying to stamp correlation. One of the first ones is so obscure that little record was made of the details. It involves a Nazi training camp on —Long Island, New York. McTernan’s family lived just 10 miles from there in the late 1930s. His research turned up 65 Nazi chapters across America seriously coloring America’s attitude toward the Jews. Even notables like Henry Ford were caught up in the anti-Jewish vitriol.

As McTernan’s elders related stories of the Nazi sentiment and the local training camp, he learned of another simultaneous event. On page 34, McTernan lists parallel headlines from September, 1938 newspapers detailing America’s compromise with Hitler’s advance in Europe against the Jews and a monster hurricane zeroing in on Long Island. The storm destroyed the Nazi training camp and everything else for miles around. The author lists dozens of other “coincidences” right up to the present day as America’s official policies have turned decidedly against Israel and Jerusalem. Nine of FEMA’s ten most expensive natural disasters can be traced to the U.S. pressuring Israel, including twenty such disasters since 1992, costing over one billion dollars each.

McTernan shows over and over that there is terrible destruction and judgment promised to any nation whose leaders would dare to part (divide) God’s land to give a portion to anyone else, even the Palestinian refugees. Modern American history proves that God keeps His promises.

Qur'an requires equally large blind spots. He must also brush off the millions of "Christians" who have been murdered, or had to migrate out of extreme persecution in Muslim dominated lands.

Pope Francis has also held numerous meetings with "representatives of other faiths." In their attendance he claimed to see "a tangible sign of the will to grow in mutual esteem and cooperation for the common good of humanity."

In a recent Apostolic Exhortation, Evangelii Gaudium, Pope Francis even resurrected an obscure teaching of Roman Catholicism to crack open the back door for everyone: "Non-Christians, by God's gracious initiative, when they are faithful to their own consciences, can live 'justified by the grace of God,' and thus be 'associated to the paschal mystery of Jesus Christ.'"

But the Bible is clear that those who rebel against Christ's free gift of salvation will have no part in His kingdom. And, Rome's Magisterium clearly states that there is no salvation outside the "church." Neither the Bible nor even Catholic tradition need stand in the way of this "unity."

When Jesus prayed for unity it was not for the believers to be one with the world, but that they would "be one" with each other. The pope's promotion of another gospel disqualifies him to be included in Christ's prayer.

It certainly does not include Muslims and other unbiblical "religious traditions." In fact, the Apostle Paul was emphatic: "Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers," (2 Cor. 6:14).

out the Bible and execute all the Bible believers, Daniels says they decided to "fix" the Bible.

Thus began a clandestine, multi-century campaign to change the Bible where it contradicted their pagan doctrines. They resurrected corrupted manuscripts from the waste baskets of history and maneuvered them into the translation process as foundation documents for future "revisions." Jesuits were welcomed onto translation committees and Bible society boards of directors to help develop an "interconfessional Bible."

As usual, anyone who tries to "compromise" with Rome eventually learns it is a one-way street. Popes brag that the Catholic "church" never changes. They stress working on common ground such as abortion and "evangelization," but if Protestants look closely, they are helping promote a false gospel of salvation by works and submission to "Mother Church," in the name of "unity." Eventually, all roads DO lead to Rome.

Daniels shows that, not only are the modern Bible versions resting on the quicksands of polluted manuscripts, but the venerable Wycliffe Bible Translators are now exclusively using a Greek text approved by Rome for its "interconfessional" qualities. Catholic missionaries readily use Wycliffe-SIL translations to entice native tribes into Rome's spider web of baptized paganism. Only Bible-believers, who trust God's preserved words in the King James Bible, are equipped to resist the tide toward one world Bible for one world religion.

If you look beyond the emotion, any unity will only come to those who throw out the preserved Bible, which clearly says, "Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues," (Rev. 18:4).

A MESSAGE FROM JACK CHICK...

Dear ones in Christ,

When the world was ruled by Rome, the nations suffered under the leadership of insane Caesars. Madness, cruelty, and corruption were everywhere because Satan had placed them on the throne. It was at this time that the Lord Jesus came from heaven to bring light into a very dark world.

He never spoke of revolt against those in power. When the Lord was tempted by Satan, you must remember that Satan was given the world's systems when Adam fell. Satan offered Jesus the kingdoms of this world if he would worship him. Jesus replied, "Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve," (Matt 4: 9-10).

The Devil, as the god of this world, has the right to give wealth and power to whomever he will if they will worship him. Just look who serves him. World leaders are into the occult: dictators, presidents, popes, international bankers, rock stars. The movers and shakers all have sold their souls to the Devil for riches and power, only to be destroyed. This has gone on ever since Adam fell. Nothing changes.

What about today? The Caesars still control and rule from Rome—inside the Vatican, dressed as popes. Satan knows what he is doing. He is ridiculing the Lord Jesus, blocking the gospel, and the darkness is everywhere, getting the world ready for the anti-Christ.

Jesus told us: "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature," (Mark 16:15). We didn't do very well. But we can still fight back and give the gospel to those in the darkness.

With gospel tracts you can still spread light and win souls. Young people have no idea who Jesus is and that He is coming again. Remember, God sees us and will judge us at the judgment seat of Christ. Satan knows his time is short and is on the offensive. Do tracts work? You bet they do!

The Lord wants to give you a soul-winners crown if you bring light to those on their way to hell. You can do that with Chick gospel tracts. Join us in this great work.
