

Pope Says That Homosexuality is Sin —But Not a Crime

Pope Francis recently demonstrated again how the Catholic Church always tries to have it both ways. In an interview with The Associated Press, he drew a line on homosexuality between a sin and a crime.

He said, “We are all children of God and God loves us as we are and for the strength that each one of us has to fight for our dignity. Being homosexual is not a crime. It’s not a crime.

“Yes, it’s a sin, well, yes, but let’s make the distinction first between sin and crime. But it’s also a sin to lack charity with one another, So what about that? ...And being homosexual isn’t a crime, it’s a human condition.”

This is rather standard Vatican double talk. To square Catholic dogma with biblical truth, he cannot agree that homosexuality is OK. But he See Pope p. 2

Pope Francis carries the wafer god called the Eucharist in the center of an ornate sunburst display called a Monstrance. This is the pinnacle of idolatry, bowing in worship to a wheat wafer and believing it is the actual “body, blood and divinity” of Jesus.

Mobs Are Okay, Christians Arrested Instead.

First, it was the Christians snickering about that guy on the street awkwardly challenging passersby with his turn-or-burn sign. Now, those who still have the courage to continue what we call “street ministry” are coming under a new kind of pressure.

Matthew Meinecke, who calls himself the “Seattle Preacher” on Twitter, found himself recently surrounded by Seattle police officers as he was reading his Bible aloud in the Seattle Center. Details are sketchy, but he has videos of people grabbing his Bible and ripping pages out of it while abusing him with vulgarities.

One person shouted: “Forget about your imaginary fairy in the (expletive) sky.” The ruckus soon brought security officers who told him: “So at this point, we can no longer stand by. The risk that you pose for public safety by remaining here can be mitigated if you leave”.

Ultimately, the mob got their way. See Mobs p. 4 also cannot agree with God that it is an abomination because it is too rampant in the ranks of Catholic leadership as was exposed several years ago and more recently in the pedophile scandal. It is telling that the Bible does not draw a clear distinction between homosexuality and pedophilia.

But more doubletalk is exposed in his handling of the word, “crime.” He illustrates it by citing the fact that many countries have laws criminalizing homosexuality. In fact, the purpose of his message appears to be directed to those countries, lobbying them to lighten up their laws.

Later in the interview he calls those laws “unfair” and makes a very revealing statement: “And being homosexual isn’t a crime, it’s a human condition.”

We would agree that all sin is a “human condition” called original sin. But that is God’s definition of sin. In today’s culture it is just another excuse for blame shifting. “I was born this way,” is the excuse and then they demand we attribute them “dignity” in spite of their sin. All this jockeying is not God’s way.

In Leviticus 18, God makes clear His policy in relation to the criminal aspect. Homosexual behavior is in a list of several other abominations that He abhors. Then he sums it up in a policy statement about judgment: “For whosoever shall commit any of these abominations, even

‘Deaths of Despair’ Increasing as Church Declines

A recent study uniquely illustrates man’s need for fellowship with God and God’s people. The study is called Deaths of Despair and the Decline of American Religion. It compared the increase in death rate from drugs, alcohol and suicide of middle-aged Americans with the decline in church attendance in the late 20th century.

They found that people in some U.S. states had a higher interest in church attendance and as a result seemed to have a lower incident of these deaths of despair. Another study found that there was a similar correlation between these deaths of despair and lower education levels.

The researchers did not find a correlation between these deaths and lower income level. This has been a much broadcast assumption that most of man’s problems are lack of income. However, this is not surprising because it is obvious that many who are well off financially have some of the most notoriously mixed up lives.

The study also observed how unique the church is as a social or cultural institution. With the demise of the churches there has been no other institution that has arisen to match its value to society.

There are numerous other examples of a cloud of despair that has descended on a significant portion of America’s population. One person in three is reported to be suffering from depression and anxiety at some level. This shows up in homelessness and a significant portion of those who are incarcerated.

See Deaths p. 8

What if they leave your Easter service still unsaved?

Not everybody gets saved when they feel the conviction of sin. Some of those who will attend your church services this Easter will delay life's most important decision. But if people leave your church without receiving Jesus, there IS still a way to win them for Christ.

Send the gospel home with them by inserting a Chick cartoon tract inside the bulletin or church pew. You can also give one to every visitor as they leave your service.

Make sure that when they get home, and continue to think about your message, that they have a tract showing them what to do.

It could be their last opportunity!

Meinecke was arrested for being a risk to public safety and fingerprinted at the police station before released.

Increasingly, the bold Christians are denied their free speech rights by these lawless mobs. They are able to create such a disturbance that even the security people fear them and remove the Christian instead.

In Great Britain it is getting even more threatening to Bible believers. One recent arrest of a Christian made international news. It was a lone woman standing quietly across the street from an abortion clinic praying silently.

The posted video shows two police officers approaching and asking if she was praying. She agreed that she might be praying “in her head.” National Review reported that the “police then searched her and patted down her hair, before handcuffing her and escorting her to the station.”

So, what was her offense? It seems that she had violated a Public Space Protection Order (PSPO). This is a new kind of ordinance in the UK that can be applied to limit free speech in a specific geographical area. It allows local authorities to “counter unreasonable and persistent behavior that affects the quality of life of its residents.”

The ordinance fails to specify specific behaviors that violate this law. But some municipalities have used it to combat alcohol use, aggressive solicitations, or public defecation.

In this lady’s case it had been used to draw an area around an abortion clinic where any efforts against the clinic violated the ordinance. Her silent prayer was interpreted by the authorities to be forbidden in that PSPO.

Another recent incident occurred in Minnesota at the Mall of America in Bloomington. One bold Christian dared wear a T-shirt with the statements “Jesus saves” and “Jesus is the only way.” “Jesus is associated with religion and it’s offending people,” he was told by a mall security guard.

The guard then forcefully told him that if he planned to shop at the mall, he had to take the shirt off or leave. After some give and take with the security officer, another officer came and after the guards had a discussion, he was told that he was “good to go” in the mall while wearing the shirt.

Jesus, Himself, was crucified by a mob that defied the rule of law (page 14 of The Empty Tomb).

This simply shows how fortunate we are in America to have a history of free speech. But it shows by the experiences in other countries that lack that history, we may be in danger of losing it if our culture continues moving in their direction.

While we do have that freedom of speech, we should cherish it and use every opportunity to exercise it. We need to remember that no-nonsense gospel tracts have been a major blessing in bringing the good news of Christ’s redemption to those who have not heard about it.

- How Jesus was arrested without being charged.
- Jewish law forbade nighttime trials, and one-day trials.
- Why the charge of blasphemy wasn't enough to put Jesus to death.
- How the charges against Jesus were changed to get the Romans to kill Him.

Some Good News —for a Change

PARENTS GETTING SOME HELP

Parents are coming out of the COVID-19 pandemic with a new awareness of the deficiencies of the government schools. It awoke the momma bear when she looked over the shoulder of her student studying at home and saw all the “woke” propaganda and gender confusion.

When she went to the school board meetings and began to read the filth that was in the school libraries, board members had to turn off the live streams. Parents have organized a groundswell that is replacing school board members, electing new governors and lawmakers, and putting many alternative methods of education on steroids.

Home schoolers have doubled, new charter schools are springing up, and now the parents are demanding their money back. A few places had dabbled with school vouchers for some time, but the souls that commit them shall be cut off from among their people.” The policy was to get their criminal behavior out of circulation before they polluted the entire culture.

Intentional rebellion against God’s laws (policies) generally required severe measures eliminating them from society. The Bible indicates how dangerous God thought that it was to the society. It is obvious that our justice system has not handled this “abomination” very well, considering how deep the poison of homosexuality has spread in our culture.

The pope is simply reflecting the lies that they are “born that way” and need to be protected from any criminal judgment that resembles God’s viewpoint.

In the interview, Francis acknowledged that some Catholic Bishops still now are widely looked at along with Education Savings Accounts (ESAs), scholarship programs, and tax credits.

These parents have proven that, working together, we don’t have to put up with Satan’s steamroller of lies that has polluted our culture.

BUYER’S REMORSE FOR TRANSGENDER TRANSITIONERS

Satan’s dream of total acceptance of homosexuality is getting a wake-up call. The more horrific effects of hormone therapies, puberty blockers and surgical genital mutilation are being exposed by vocal de-transitioners. The teenage girls that were railroaded into this life-altering lifestyle are emerging into womanhood with unbelievable horror stories.

One articulate 18-year-old from California farm country named Chloe support laws that criminalize homosexual behavior or discriminate against the LGBTQ community. But, he attributed these attitudes to cultural backgrounds, and said that bishops need to undergo a process of change to recognize the dignity of everyone.

So, anyone who stands up for God’s judgment on homosexuality, needs re-education to learn how to “dignify” what God calls sin and the resulting disruptive behavior.

With the growing ignorance of the Bible, God’s viewpoint on sin and control of sinful behavior fades more and more into the background. We need to counter that every way we can. An engaging gospel tract containing a generous helping of God’s Words can redirect someone away from the wrong path leading to God’s final judgment of eternity in hell.

News From p. 6

Cole is making the circuits describing her life after puberty blockers probably left her sterile and with no breasts to nurse any future children.

She describes in detail how a dysfunctional family left her vulnerable. Images on Instagram seduced her to believe that her boyish body would never measure up to Hollywood's voluptuous standard. Therefore, this must mean that she was in the wrong body. Eager adults capitalized on her youthful obliviousness and cheered her into full transition. Remembering the dismay she had when removing the bandages, she weeps even today.

Abigail Shrier is a Wall Street Journal columnist. When the de-transitioners began to emerge, her news nose smelled a story. She wrote an article that had a huge response and she went looking for the facts.

What she found was a generation of young girls caught in the same trap with Chloe. She could find no one who had spoken up about this and her research turned into a book, "Irreversible Damage: The Transgender Craze Seducing Our Daughters".

Understandably, booksellers, such as Amazon, have been caught between those violently opposed to her message, and other influencers who see it as a valid exposure of a modern social tragedy. Shrier has also weathered the usual violent harassment anyone receives who dares walk into this minefield.

At the end of a video interview with Jordan B. Peterson, Shrier summed it up: "The lies have to stop!" But to stop the lies, the truth must be told, widely. Gospel tracts that contain the words of God are a perfect medium to do that.

THE MOTTO STILL STANDS

"In God We Trust" as the U.S. motto was signed into law by Dwight D. Eisenhower July 30, 1956, two years after the phrase "under God" was added to the Pledge of Allegiance.

Now, several states have agreed that the motto needs more exposure. West Virginia lawmakers are considering making it mandatory that the motto be displayed in a "conspicuous place" in all the government buildings including public schools. Similar laws have already been passed in several other states.

May this small step be given an outsized impact by the God in whom we must trust for all things good and beautiful.

I want to thank you for your great service as an informing Christian. I have learned much from your literature that I have never had the chance to learn elsewhere. I have double checked all the information that has been presented in your publications (the ones that I have, that is) and have verified their veracity. It has not earned me many Catholic friends though (smile). But they couldn't dispute the truth after investigating the matters. Here is the one line that I have learned that shuts down Catholic arguments. "Who are you defending, the Catholic institution, or Christ?"

The researchers focused narrowly on deaths as a result of despair. But there are other high costs when a society walks away from its Creator. Broken marriages and dysfunctional schools have also contributed to that despair.

It is hard to avoid the dark picture painted by these studies. Our news media is saturated daily with the dreadful details. The study of history is not encouraging for cultures who continue down this path. But history also teaches us what leads to a thriving society.

The Old Testament illustrates clearly the destiny of rampant sin. But it also has a few stories of the prosperity and well-being of the people who live in obedience. The faithfulness of King David and Solomon led to such a flourishing culture that other heads of state, such as the Queen of Sheba, would travel from afar to come and see for themselves. But the arrogance of the subsequent generation destroyed that prosperity.

In modern times America has also demonstrated the fruits of righteousness. By respecting the rule of law and a general concern for others, America's technology and abundance has led the way in reducing poverty and hunger in the rest of the world.

Opportunity International reports that: "Since the 1970s, global hunger has dramatically decreased. By 1980, the prevalence of undernourishment in developing countries had fallen to 26.5% [from 35%]; and by 2000, it was 18.3%. By 2010, less than 15% of people in developing countries were undernourished, and that number continued to drop to below 13% at the last reporting (Our World in Data). "We have collectively made remarkable progress in the fight against hunger in the last five decades."

These statistics match the wave

Rejected by his family, unemployed and with no one to turn to, Jimmy was ready for suicide. But then he met the One who truly loves him.

Read online: www.chick.com of economic prosperity that America experienced during that time frame. However, more recent statistics indicate that the number of impoverished is increasing again in the last three years because of the international turmoil caused by escalating sin in America and worldwide.

Soul winners, history proves that the biblical lifestyle is unmatched by any other worldview available. We just need to let people know that God's way is the best way. And gospel tracts are one of the most convenient ways to do that.

Philippines

Thanks to your help, for years we have been sending Chick tracts to support the street preaching and outreaches of Missionary Gerald Sutek in Cagayan de Oro, Philippines. He sent us the picture below, along with this report:

“We buy gas at same Shell every time. These guys have received many tracts, so this day I did not give them tracts. I leaned out the passenger window and asked them, if they died today where would they go... heaven or hell?”

They all quickly said “Heaven!” I said, ‘That’s great but how do you know?’ They all pointed to the stack of Chick tracts on the dashboard. Tracts work!”

1,300,000 Tracts Heading for the Philippines!

As this issue went to press, we were shipping another container, with 1,300,000 Chick tracts, to more than 100 different ministries on the islands (including Sutek). The requests for tracts in the Philippines are overwhelming. God has opened a special window and softened hearts here so we are trying to take full advantage of it! We still need some funding for this, plus we have requests for 300,000 more! Can you help?

Big New Project!

Mexico and Guatemala

Now that the Philippine project is nearing completion, the next big project is for Mexico. Missionary Joe Hendrighsman, sent out of Grace Baptist Church in Lees Summit, MO, has asked for one million Chick tracts for the growing ministries around Oaxaca, the most ethnically diverse state in Mexico. They will be used not only in Southern Mexico, but also will cross into Guatemala to help build the churches there. Hendrighsman also plans to use many of the tracts to help 5 new church plants going on in the State of Oaxaca, plus during medical clinic outreaches that bring people from all around. In addition, he has short-term mission teams coming throughout the year who will be put to work passing these tracts to the people.

There are big plans to put these tracts to work right away! A transport ministry has offered to take the entire 20,000 pounds of tracts across the border, clear customs, and deliver them to Oaxaca, all for free. There will be no transportation cost for the Mission Fund on this project. Every dollar given will go for tracts.

Guyana

Missionary Noel Shrivnauth normally works with English-speakers in Guyana, but is now helping the many refugees coming across the border from Venezuela. Government mismanagement in Venezuela has resulted in widespread shortages of food and other necessities. People are fleeing to neighboring countries. Shrivnauth tells us here what is happening with the Spanish Chick tracts: "We go to the Spanish boats and do soulwinning there on Saturdays. These are Spanish Venezuelans who sell their boatloads of fishes to Guyana fisheries. Since we received the tracts a few months ago there have been about 10-15 men who received Christ as their Saviour. They normally take a break from fishing to visit their families in Venezuela from Christmas until about the middle of February. We will start again to go soulwinning among them when they resume their fishing business in February."

South Africa

Tracts are an important tool for Missionary Mike Fleuch in South Africa. Here, he shares how the tracts plant the seeds and God takes it from there: "The sidewalk ministry I mentioned last month has gained momentum. A few weeks back, Armand (our song leader) came out to help. While I got the grill going, he ran across the street to chat with three people walking by. One gentleman said, 'I was given a tract here three weeks ago, took it home, and have read it several times. I would like to know more.' Armand proceeded to preach the gospel to him. A few minutes later, all three of those people went to their knees along with Armand to pray. Daniel, the man who had been reading and rereading that Chick tract, received the Lord Jesus Christ as his Savior. I planted, Armand watered, and God gave the increase. A lady driving by in her car saw them kneeling and praying. She pulled her car over, quickly jumped out and ran over to me and said, 'Are you praying for people? I need prayer.' I'm always happy to pray with people, but not without a conversation about their soul. After that witnessing opportunity, people started streaming by the table like no other week we've done this. Long story short, five people prayed that day for the Lord Jesus to save their souls."

India

Along with several US churches, the Chick Mission Fund supports the outreach of Lordson Roch in Goa, India. Shipping into India has become quite people who support this great cause for the furtherance of the gospel.

“In the last few months, so many people have come to attend our church service after receiving the Chick tracts. We are greatly encouraged with what difficult, because the Hindu government makes it nearly impossible to clear tracts through customs, so we print within the country to avoid that problem.

The Chick Mission Fund just provided 60,000 Chick tracts, all locally printed, for this ministry. Roch reports:

“Today, the tracts arrived, and all are in great condition. Around 30 of our church members regularly join together to pass out gospel tracts. This is a great encouragement to me.

“Even though we face oppositions very often, we have seen great numbers of people who are so hungry for the truth, and many will stop to talk to us while we pass out Chick tracts.

“Thank you so very much for helping us with 60,000 Chick tracts. This is an incredible blessing to me and our church in India.

“We have rented a small storehouse to store the tracts. I have attached a few pictures for you and for the generous the Lord is doing among us and in our church here.”

United Kingdom

Cross Mission, working in the population center of greater London, asks us to supply several of their evangelists. One is Kristina Kim, who works the streets with her husband, passing out Chick tracts and sharing Jesus. Here she describes one of her days of ministry, using the tracts you provided.

“Yesterday I did evangelism in Fulham in London. Delivered many tracts into the properties and shared the Gospel face to face. Very good responses from them. They are from China, Switzerland, Italy, and so on.

“A young boy who seemed around 12 years said he was Jewish. I asked him if he can tell me how you Jewish people can go to the heaven. He said he didn't know how. So I told him who Jesus is and what He did for us. He listened well and got a tract. A Chinese lady rejected the Gospel first time and said she is an atheist. But later she changed her attitude and said 'it is interesting.' And asked me to give her a tract.

"A young man from Switzerland opened wide to the Gospel and showed much interest!!"

Here is a report from another of their evangelists, Paul Song. He writes: "By the grace of God, we distribute the tracts in front of the Sutton station every morning from 7.30-8.00am (Monday to Friday).

"Also we distributed the tracts in North Ireland and Scotland last month. Because some people reported to police about our distribution, police asked us to come to the police station in North Ireland. But God had been so good to us that police understood the tracts are not harmful for the people.

"We received many phone calls through the tracts, we prayed for many teenagers in all of the United Kingdom. We thank God for teenagers responding to us because of the tracts. Please keep on praying for the Revival in the United Kingdom. I believe that many souls shall be saved through the tracts.

"Your leaflets are so powerful that some Muslims gave their life to Jesus through the leaflets."

This is the country that gave us the King James Bible, but now the spiritual darkness is heart-breaking. Cross Mission is a Korean missionary group, sent out to the "pagan" lands of England. This is the wonderful fruit of a generation of missions. Now the churches planted on the mission field are becoming sending churches themselves!

Kenya

Missionary Joetta Smith has been teaching a group of local pastors the importance of evangelism. She writes: "It is amazing, but it seems the tracts are in bigger demand than ever before! It is exciting! I have a team of five pastors who are going out weekly to do street preaching and they will go back to begin to disciple those who responded. It is wonderful to see people now actually being drawn back to God!"

These precious pastors are spreading the tracts you send them through Sister Smith.

Burma/Myanmar

We have a request from a missionary (name withheld for safety) who will enter the Burma border region with 10,000 Burmese Chick tracts. We do a number of projects with this American missionary throughout Asia but can't tell you a lot about them. This is a dangerous area for Christian work but let's remember that God promises us that His Word "... shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it." Isaiah 55:11

These Thai children, on one of his trips, were thrilled to read the Gospel in their language.

Brothers and Sisters in Christ:

Have you noticed what is happening to free speech in our country? It's eroding. Guess why. Evil was allowed to prevail because good people did nothing.

Many Christians have looked on and done nothing for decades, told that "lifestyle evangelism," rather than preaching the gospel, is what will win the world for Christ. But it didn't.

What did God say? "For after that in the wisdom of God the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe." (1 Corinthians 1:21)

God did not choose another method. God never needs to modernize. "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and to day, and for ever" (Hebrews 13:8).

God gave Jack Chick the idea to engage people in a story and before it was done, introduced them to the preaching of the Lord Jesus Christ. Many have been saved this way.

Chick tracts are God's missionaries, with God's words of scripture as their power, and the story and pictures as a hook to get them to read it. Chick tracts give us an easy way to preach!

Even if we lose a debate with an unsaved person, but a tract is received, then we win! God's missionary has gone home with him or her. Later, in a quiet spot, the Lord can have an appointment with that precious soul.

Our rights are eroding right before our eyes. But we don't have to accept defeat. Maybe now is actually the hour of victory, if we will be faithful to preach the gospel. God may just turn the page on history and produce revival. We will never know unless we act in faith right now.

In Christ Jesus, and for His service,

David Daniele

It's so easy... a child can do it!
