

Who's the Real Hater?

By David W. Daniels

A fierce nation rose in the Middle East, bent on conquest. They threatened countries with a simple mandate: "Submit, or die!" They destroyed kingdoms and took captive tens of thousands of people, after brutally torturing and killing the rest. They chopped off feet, hands and heads to show their slave-like devotion to a god traceable back to ancient gods and goddesses of the moon, Venus and sun. Yet God had compassion on them.

Is it really hate to tell them before it's too late?

Many of God's people hated those Assyrians (who did you think I was referring to?). So when God called His prophet, Jonah, to pronounce judgment to the great city Nineveh (near modern Mosul, Iraq), he fled the other way! Why? Wasn't judgment what Jonah wanted? But Jonah knew the truth: as he told God, "thou art a gracious

4000 Tracts Quietly Seeded into Muslim Festival Crowds

Detroit: Free Press, Mandi Wright / AP

This year, the Arab International Festival in Dearborn, Michigan was again the target of two types of Christians. And the news media picked up both stories. In one, Christian "protesters" charged in waving confronting signs and placards

Modern 'Studies' show God's Family Plan is Best

Several recent studies are beginning to demonstrate the value of the traditional family. Grudgingly, even some politicians and liberal media types are recognizing that God's plan works best.

The studies verify what most thinking Christians have known for years: that a good father exercising measured correction is much more likely to produce mature, productive adults. However, abusive and negligent parents have prompted the government to step in. Twenty states legally ban spanking in public schools and 24 countries have also made it illegal for even parents to apply the paddle to the seat of correction.

For several years the United States Congress has been considering ratifying a treaty with the UN called the Convention on the Rights of the Child. These UN "treaties" are a diabolical, back-door way of handing our American "rights" over to UN control. Article Six of the U.S. Constitution states: "...all Treaties made, or which shall be made, under the Authority of the United States, shall be the supreme Law of the Land..."

The U.S. and Somalia are the only ones who have not signed onto this globalization scheme. But the current administration is pushing hard in that direction.

The laws that could be imposed by this treaty are patently unbiblical. Article 19, requires protection of children "from all forms of physical or mental violence." A UN committee charged with defining the treaty rules states flatly: "Corporal punishment and other cruel or degrading forms of punishment are forms of violence and States must take all appropriate legislative, administrative, social and educational measures to eliminate them." Thus spanking, as prescribed in Prov. 22:15, is systematically being outlawed in countries who have signed this UN "treaty."

The elimination of spanking produces a reduced fear of punishment. Another study illustrated this. It found that those who believed in hell were less likely to commit a crime. Could removing "hell" from the modern bibles have something to do with this?

The importance of fathers is "discovered" in another pair of "studies." Children without fathers have a much higher poverty rate, school dropout rate and are more likely to be in trouble with the law. However, just having a father in the home does not always help if the child feels rejected by the father.

God's Bible is full of illustrations of the importance of Godly men. But today's God, and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repentest thee of the evil" (Jonah 4:2).

Jonah was a "hater." And like many haters, he justified his own hatred of these lost Assyrians. So what did he do? He withheld preaching God's word to them. He showed his hatred by not warning them about God's coming judgment of their sins! Of course, God had other plans, and turned Jonah around later. But that's another story.

Many times Bible-believing Christians are labeled "haters," but for the opposite reason. The unbelievers think that our warning about God's judgment and the lake of fire show hatred toward them. Quite the opposite! We love them so much that we don't want them to face Jesus at the Great White Throne and be cast in the lake of fire (Revelation 20:11-15).

We love them so much that we don't want their works to be judged by God the Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. We love them so much that we want them with us in the new heaven and the new earth, forever and ever. We love them so much that we warn

Basic Questions Evolutionists Can't Answer

By Thomas F. Heinz

Evolutionists wake up each morning to tiptoe around important problems their worldview won't let them resolve. Here are three basic examples

Matter: where did everything come from?

Evolutionists generally follow the atheists in saying: "From the Big Bang, an explosion." They convince themselves that a made-up explosion called the Big Bang which exists only in their imagination was different from all explosions that people have actually observed.

They think the Big Bang produced matter! Explosions that we observe don't produce matter. Real estate people don't drop bombs on houses to fix leaky roofs. Explosions don't do anything like what evolutionists claim the Big Bang did.

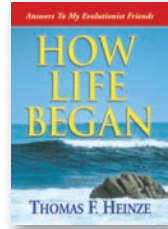

Life: how did it start and how does it work?

Evolutionists accept the atheist's claim that some of the matter produced by the imagined big bang came together and made a living cell which then evolved becoming different kinds of cells, animals, and highly intelligent people like you.

To them, life began when little blobs got together in a pool of warmish water. (Imagine blobs in a mud puddle.) The microscopes of 100 years ago, were too primitive to disprove the idea, so it became a tradition. But the muddled minds of misguided men misunderstand mud! The prehistoric mud puddle would have to have provided not blobs but living cells complete with DNA, proteins, and other complex materials that pools of water can neither make nor organize. Not even great scientists in great laboratories can make living cells!

The warm pond idea became a sacred tradition when DNA, proteins, etc. were as yet unknown. Evolutionists today knew that warm ponds could not have made living things, but many still copy and paste that stupid old tradition to confuse the gullible.

The idea of a "simple cell" was invented when the fantastic complexity of even the and carrying a pig's head on a pole. The other was Tim Berends, a six-foot-tall guy wearing a warm smile and a I-(heart)-Muslims T-shirt.

While the "protesters" were ducking rocks and bottles, Tim quietly moved through the crowds handing out Chick tracts to booth keepers and spectators alike. By the end of the 3-day festival, that attracted over 300,000 attendees, he had salted 4000 copies of the tract, Unforgiven into the hands of mostly Muslim people.

The T-shirt, with "John 9:35-38" on the back, attracted much attention with some Muslims asking where they could get one.

Tim would walk against the flow greeting people with a smile and the Arab greeting, "As-Salamu Alaykum (pronounced, aah suh laah mu aah lay kum) which means "peace be upon you" and hand them a tract. Often a family would approach and the father would ignore Tim but, behind her husband's back, the wife would reach for the tract.

SBC Votes: Civil Rights Don't Include Homosexuals

Significant voices are being raised against the basic lies concocted by homosexual activists. One is that their sinful behavior should be equated with the color of one's skin. In their recent national convention, the Southern Baptists voted in favor of a resolution declaring that "...those who are promoting the recognition of 'same-sex marriage' have misappropriated the rhetoric of the Civil Rights Movement."

This is especially significant since the Southern Baptist Convention (SBC) voted this year to elect the first black man as president.

#5003 - 16 cents

So, how did the sodomites succeed in shoehorning their "homosexual rights" into the civil rights movement? By a simple change of one term: from "preference" to "orientation." Up until a few decades ago, homosexuals were viewed as preferring (a choice) same sex behavior. (If you read the right Bible, this is clearly God's view, also.)

But the demon driving the men pounding on Lot's door had a better idea. He whispered in someone's ear that they were "born that way." Immediately, the lie began to spread that homosexuals were born with an "orientation," just like people are "born" with their skin color.

So if black people have the "civil right" to be free of "discrimination," so should the homosexual. This kicked the door open for all kinds of sinful behavior protected by the full force of the law.

Pastor Dwight McKissic of Cornerstone Baptist Church in Arlington, Texas, put it succinctly: "They are equating their sin with my skin." McKissic is a black man.

Activists have cooked up all kinds of "rights" for homosexuals. Male homosexuals claim that it is their "civil right" to dress as a woman and even try on dresses in the ladies' dressing rooms. Or it is their "right" to use the girl's bathroom if they choose.

Such rights also include: wedding cakes from Christian bakeries and a double bed in a Christian-run bed and breakfast.

They have succeeded in getting legislation passed guaranteeing their "right" to teach sodomy and oral sex to school children and eliminate all negative material from school curricula. Universities have agreed that it is their "right" to join and even be leaders in Christian campus clubs.

A law proposed in California declares it illegal for a therapist to even talk to a confused teenager about the possibility of converting from his sense of being "gay." (If this passes, it is not clear if a soul winner might even be charged for trying to get a "gay" teen saved.)

It recently became a "right" for open homosexuals in the military. And, of course, there is a huge debate about the "right" to same-sex marriage and all the benefits of health coverage, inheritance, adoption, and parenting of children born by surrogate or unnatural insemination. In their pride, they claim the "right" to lewd parades inviting spectators to view their "unseemly" behavior. (See Romans 1:27.)

Also demanded is a "right" to medical privacy. When the Gay Related Immune Deficiency disease (soon known as AIDS) culture has done everything possible to destroy the image of a good father. The father is so often a bumbling dufus in modern films. Few churches focus on developing godly fathers.

Proponents of same-sex marriage have long insisted that there are no bad effects on children in same-sex families. However, a recent study claims to have found that 23 percent had experienced some type of sexual abuse, compared to 2 percent of children in intact, biological families.

The new Chick tract, Born Wild, highlights some of the cultural factors that have contributed to today's high level of juvenile crime. The tract illustrates how we are born with a sinful, rebellious heart and how an overwhelmed mother, lacking the backup of a strong father, has little recourse against a child who understands how to bring in the government to defend his evil ways. Fortunately someone in the family is able to bring in the grace of God and a regenerated heart redeems the situation.

Many Christians want to provide Chick tracts to missionaries.

smallest cells was still unknown. Cells were little, so people claimed they were simple. Actually even some of the parts they are made of, DNA, RNA, and proteins, are very complex, but this was not yet known.

Atheists and evolutionists still believe in a first living cell that began without a Creator. They have just quit calling it "spontaneous generation."

One part of their brains knows that DNA and various other components of living things are far too complex to have come about without a Creator. Other parts of their brains believe that it must have happened once, "the first cell," and that all living things evolved from it. To believe that there is no God, evolutionists are stuck with spontaneous generation, though to avoid the stigma of the term, they often call it something else. By any other name it still stinks. Only God can create living things, and He could do it with or without mud puddles!

Sex: who came first —a him or a her?

Which evolved first, male sex organs or female sex organs? Male sex organs are so different from female sex organs that neither could possibly have evolved from the other. Neither could either have evolved without the other! Think that through! Sexual reproduction could only have been successful if male and female organs fit one another and worked together at each stage from their very beginning. The only reasonable explanation is that both were created on purpose by an intelligent Creator.

If there had been even one generation in which sexual reproduction was not already complete and functioning, those who believe that it gradually evolved would not even exist!

CHICK MAIL BAG

As a Christian, for years I had struggled with a question, "What do I do about Halloween?" I decided not to hide in a darkened home on Halloween night. Instead, I welcomed both the trick-or-treaters and the opportunity to spread the gospel. The kids received candy, "Jesus Loves Me" bracelets, bookmarks and pencils imprinted with Bible verses and, of course, Chick Tracts. One Way for the littlest ones, Boo, Devil's Night or The Slugger for the older ones and The Mad Machine for their parents. They are always curious about these little comic books. Best of all, the tracts and other inspirational items will still be around long after the candy is gone! Chick Publications has been the biggest influence in moving me beyond my comfort zone. I keep a fully stocked display rack in my dental office and put a tract in every bill I pay. Thank you so much and keep up the good work.

appeared in the homosexual community in the 1980s, activists immediately demanded it be disassociated from the homosexual practices even though that was how it was primarily spread.

Myanmar Church Energized by Gospel Tracts

This report from Myanmar proves that gospel tracts can energize evangelism in churches regardless of geography. Where many Americans are reluctant to try tracts, the people in these pictures prove they work.

Pastor Suumpi started with three Chick tracts translated to Burmese. The church divided up into two-people teams with assignments twice a week to visit bus stands, cinemas, training centers, colleges and universities, hospitals, jails, games centers, nursery, primary and high schools.

Besides these regular visitation assignments, each person in the church, young and old, is given a few tracts to pass on to co-workers, friends, fellow passengers on buses, or leave at internet shops, libraries, and shopping centers when they are out and about. The Sunday school children are given an "allotment" of tracts each week for friends at school. But they know that the tracts catch the interest of unreached parents, also, when the children get home with them.

"Everyone is excited and active to have this great opportunity in life to extend God's Kingdom in easy ways with no big skills. That brings many interested to distribute," Suumpi writes. Pastor Suumpi's vision extends beyond his own church. Word has spread that they have the tracts available and 10 other ministries, Bible colleges and churches, have asked for copies. He is currently translating three more titles. "We cannot go to all people's homes and into their knowledge and hearts. But the small tract does. People who get the chance to read the tracts are getting valuable knowledge and challenges for eternal life through our tracts," Pastor Suumpi writes.

there trying to cram the Bible down their throats. He replied: "I truly believe in heaven and I truly believe in hell. I wouldn't be here if I didn't believe that Jesus said, 'I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh to the Father but by me.'" But I love Muslims and want them to come to trust Jesus." This "soft answer" turned away her "wrath" and she wandered off.

The group of Christians with scripture signs and T-shirts immediately drew a hostile crowd. When the crowd got unruly, they requested police protection and were told there were not enough officers available.

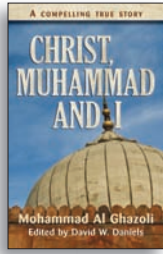

The crowd became abusive, shouting profanities and throwing rocks, bottles, and eggs. Eventually the Christians were escorted out and threatened with citations for "disorderly conduct." Last year, Tim used the same quiet, unobtrusive technique to distribute 1800 tracts at the festival while the same group used confrontation and met with similar resistance. Tim demonstrated that sometimes it is better to be "wise as serpents and harmless as doves." The news media covered both approaches. One showed pictures of the rioters attacking the Christians with the signs. The other was a picture of Tim, standing tall in his I-(heart)-Muslims T-shirt, offering a tract and a smile to a teenage girl wrapped in a scarf. She is smiling back before reaching for the tract. Granted, Jesus spoke harsh condemnation on the hypocrites of His day for making their converts "twofold more the child of hell than themselves." Most of the ones shouting obscenities and throwing things at the Christians were teens and young people. Would they not have been included when Jesus sat on a hill overlooking Jerusalem and wept for her children? He roundly castigated the leaders, but bemoaned the fact that the common people on the street were like sheep without a shepherd.

There is no doubt that sinners need to be confronted with the gospel. However, it is better for the soul winner to show Christ's compassion while delivering the message and let the tract do the confronting, later at a more private time.

Tim believes that the hundreds of tracts that he was able to quietly put into the hands of the multitude will do much to point the precious Muslim men and oppressed Muslim women away from the hateful god Allah, into the loving arms of the Lord Jesus.

them, so they may be saved for all eternity.

That's why we pass out gospel tracts. The purpose of Chick tracts is to shock the unbelievers into realizing they are lost, deserving of judgment and in need of a Saviour. Then, through the story and the information at the end, the sinner is led to turn in simple faith from sin to the Redeemer, who paid for his sin. If we hated the lost, we would either, like Jonah, refuse to give them the gospel that can save them, or lie and pretend they are saved, calling them "brother" and "sister," making them comfortable as they head for the lake of fire.

But Chick tracts are not "hate literature." They are "love literature." "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16). That is the message of love that we prayerfully put in every Chick tract. May we all show love to the unsaved around us, and not be like the "hater" Jonah, and withhold the gospel from them.

People all over the world are reading Chick tracts because someone loved them enough to share the Gospel!

UK ‘Death Template’ Kills 130,000 a Year

The murder of over 50 million innocent babies while still in the womb has opened the door for “disposing” of people at the other end of life. To see where this may be going, we need only look at England, where this type of socialized medicine has been in force for several years. A recent LifeSiteNews article quoted a UK doctor that 130,000 elderly patients were prematurely “killed every year by a ‘death pathway.’”

Two major hospitals developed the “Liverpool Care Pathway,” (LCP) a “template to guide the care of the dying.” Since then it has been adopted nationwide and approved by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE), “the government’s health scrutiny body in charge of rationing health services.” Once a patient is placed on that “pathway,” water and nourishment is withdrawn and “continuous deep sedation” leads to death in a matter of hours.

This doctor cited one case where he personally removed a patient from the LCP in spite of “significant resistance.” He revived and was sent home in a month to live with his family for another 14 months.

It is estimated that half of the medical cost in the U.S. occurs in the last six months of life. With the government taking charge of health care, this expense is one of the first to be targeted by their rationing plan.

Unfortunately, this is only one of the symptoms of our sin-sick culture. In healthier times, more families followed biblical principles of eating, honesty, and care for one another. This required less medical care and government assistance or intervention. The American “experiment” has abundantly proven that a Godly family, imbedded in a church that faithfully teaches God’s word, is the bedrock of a free and prosperous nation.

When we allowed godless men to take over our educational system and infiltrate our churches, we started legalizing sin. Drunkenness, gambling, abortion, homosexuality and greedy usury all became legal and acceptable. Since “righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people,” America has moved from God’s blessing to God’s curse. (See Prov. 14:34.)

We are getting fatigued with news stories about nations and local governments that cannot pay their bills. And it’s always the same tune: “it is costing too much to support the older members of their societies... not enough younger ones to work and pay the bill.” But let’s not forget that the generation who is terrified that there is no money to pay benefits is the very generation that found it “inconvenient” to have children.

Through abortion, tens of millions have been slaughtered. And now, those tens of millions are desperately needed in the workforce to earn a living and pay taxes to support their parents. And the generation who found it so easy to kill their children before birth is beginning to reap what has been sown. There is justice, after all.

As America marches ever deeper into sin, legally killing the old and useless people to save money appears to be the next step. A generation ago, families were generally able to care for their aging ones, at no cost to the government. Now, because of no-fault divorce, the treadmill of keeping up with the Joneses, mounting credit card debt, and the desire to “let the government do it,” we face another ungodly choice.

Bible believers must speak up against this slippery slope of evil. The Chick tract, Who Murdered Clarice? is an eloquent exposure of the horrors of abortion both here and at the day of judgment. Other tracts all call us to righteousness, the only thing that “exalteth a nation.”

A MESSAGE FROM JACK CHICK...

Dear ones in Christ.

When I first became a daddy, I loved little babies. Their sparkle, their tiny toes, shiny eyes, and laughter made me want to hug them. Their little heads smell so clean and nice. Then comes the tiny teeth. What a miracle. Each child is such a blessing. My baby was born in 1952. That babyhood fades away so fast. Just like life, it goes so fast.

But today, such a tremendous change. When I smile at a little kid, the grandma pushing the little kid glares back. I understand she's protecting her grandchild for fear of someone taking him. America has gone to the dogs.

I look at children today and want to weep. What chance do they have? America is going communist. Most people don't know it but the term "progressive" is the new word for communism.

What have they done to our kids? Following Soviet Russia's pattern, no Bible reading, graduates can be punished for thanking Jesus in an assembly. The 10 commandments are gone, along with prayer. The schools and government have turned many of our kids into pagans. We have lawlessness; riots are in the wind.

And what shall we do for our kids? Beloved, use our tracts. Pray with your little ones. Outside the house it's a zoo. Our schools are now government schools. We must teach them how to obey God in a hostile world.

My dear friend, Bill Eubanks, missionary to Zimbabwe, believes, like myself, that Africa will go Muslim. Bill passes our tracts to kids in Africa. They take them like $20 bills.

World War III is just around the corner and for the Lord's sake do your best to get our tracts into the hands of as many kids as you can. The scriptures inside them are from the Lord.

May God richly bless you and give you courage to do this.

Your friend in Christ,

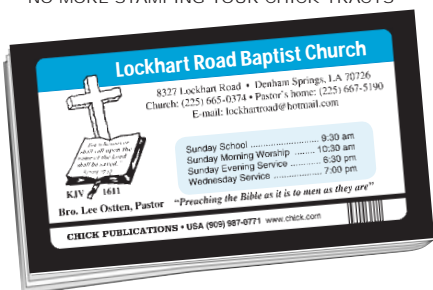

Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. Galatians 6:7
